MSU's Budget $8.3 Million Beyond Income

EAST LANSING (AP) — John Hannah, Michigan State University president, indicated Monday night that to meet its needs MSU must do about $8.3 million worth of persuading in the Legislature and in Congress.

In his annual state of the University message, Hannah said Gov. George Romney's 1966-67 budget recommendations were $7.5 million short of MSU's request.

In addition, he said, MSU has $846,000 at stake in proposed cutbacks in the federal budget.

Hannah also proposed a large scale university attack on the problems of America's large cities.

Noting that MSU has pooled resources with other universities to work in underdeveloped countries abroad, he asked: "why not in our own country?"

Scant Research

He said many advocates of the antipoverty war "suspect that great plans are based on pitifully scant research."

Hannah said a handicap for MSU in obtaining state money is "that our appropriations have increased substantially in recent years, and the mistaken impression is abroad that Michigan State University has been given generous if not magnificent treatment by the budgetmakers.

"Actually," he added, "as we can document fully appropriations have both lagged behind enrollment increases and failed to take into account the changing composition of the student body (toward more graduate students)."

The problem in Washington, Hannah said, is a proposal to reduce by $12 million a $14.5 million a year federal endowment of the nation's land-grant institutions, including MSU.

Ag Research Cut

"The only excuse offered for abandoning this policy of continuing endowment is there is now money available for universities in other federal programs," he said. "But the fact is there is no money in other programs available on a grant basis to support instructional programs...."

Hannah said President Johnson's budget also proposed an $8.5 million cut in agricultural research grants for the experiment stations and a $10 million shift from cooperative extension programs to a fund for rural community development and work with low-income families.

These developments, he said, would mean a loss to MSU of $335,949 in instructional programs, $210,000 for its experiment station and $301,000 for its cooperative extension service.

And, he added, "they are tremendously important if they suggest a disposition to drift away from the educational philosophy represented by the land-grant colleges and universities."

Space Spectacular

Gemini Team To Orbit 72 Hours In Docking Hop

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A spectacular flight plan has been drawn up for America's next Gemini space adventure calling for a "walk in space" of nearly three hours — twice around the world and twice as long as most observers expected.

During his lengthy stroll, Gemini 8 astronaut David R. Scott will cling to the rear of the two-man capsule, looking like a man who almost missed his street car, while command pilot Neil A. Armstrong fires maneuvering rockets on the spacecraft to uncouple and couple with another satellite.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is now in the process of deciding whether the unmanned target will be an Agena rocket or a substitute satellite, called an Alternate Target Docking Adapter.

Engine Fails

The space agency wanted to go with the Agena, but an Agena engine failed in a test chamber last Saturday and muddled plans. NASA has suspended further testing until a cause has been determined and corrected. Officials would prefer to use the Agena because it has a motor to maneuver it around, which the ATDA does not.

Whichever target is used, it will be launched by an Atlas rocket from a pad 6,000 feet away from Gemini launch complex 19 at Cape Kennedy. If it achieves a proper orbit, Air Force Maj. Scott and Armstrong, a civilian, will rocket into space about one hour and 40 minutes later.

The launch is expected to occur one month from today, March 15.

Scott and Armstrong plan to catch up with their target satellite on the fifth or sixth orbit, then slowly push the nose of Gemini 8 into a docking collar on the target satellite, firmly coupling the capsule to it. Both the Agena and ATDA have this collar.

If the Agena is used, the astronauts will use controls inside Gemini 8 to fire a small Agena propulsion unit. Delicate instruments will then measure the thrust the Agena provides.

On the morning of the second day, Scott is scheduled to get out of the capsule and maneuver his way to the rear. There, he will put on a special backpack with life-supporting oxygen bottles and other equipment inside.

After some maneuvering with a hand-held jet gun, the astronaut will cling to hand and foot grips on the rear of the spacecraft, sources said, while Armstrong fires small rockets on the spacecraft to back Gemini 8 away from its target satellite.

Fly In Formation

The astronauts then plan to fly in formation with the satellite — at a distance of 10 or 15 feet — with Scott "swimming" in space, taking pictures and possibly touching the satellite. The life-line connecting him to Gemini 8 will permit Scott to go 75 to 100 feet away.

Scott is expected to hang onto the rear of Gemini 8 again while Armstrong fires the spacecraft's maneuvering rockets to rendezvous and dock with the target satellite. Altogether, Scott will be outside the capsule about three hours.

Inside the capsule again, having left his backpack and lifeline out in space, he and Armstrong will rendezvous and dock with the target vehicle five or six times, approaching from various angles and distances.

After 12 to 14 hours of experiments on the third day, the astronauts are to splash down in the Atlantic — completing a mission of nearly 72 hours.

Rural America Is Poverty War Target In 1966

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government hopes to begin a new kind of federal attack on poverty this year. The target is rural America. The initial cost is low and the theme is self-help.

The vehicle for the new government program is the Rural Community Development Service, a planning agency authorized last year. President Johnson has asked Congress for $5 million to give the agency the go-head to begin operations in all 50 states.

The service's main goal is to set up hundreds of rural planning districts and provide the incentive for them to tackle the immediate — and future — problems in their areas on a local level.

Plan Together

Rural America has long withstood the government's antipoverty programs. Statistics show that its poverty rate is nearly twice that of the rest of the nation, its children lag two years behind urban dwellers in education and receive 33 per cent less medical attention. Twenty-five per cent of its nonfarm homes lack even running water.

As envisioned by Robert G. Lewis, administrator of the Rural Community Development Service, the new administration program would provide "a means whereby the rural and city people will be able to plan together and to achieve some things that no individual government unit is able to afford itself."

The proposed districts would be up to about 50 miles in diameter and generally correspond to the usual commercial patterns of a rural trading area — farms interspersed with many small and a few larger cities.

They would include representatives from all counties and city governments in their area.

Underlying much of the government's concern for the future of rural America has been the inability of small rural areas to help themselves to the funds available from the Office of Economic Opportunity, the administration's antipoverty agency.

Attract Industry

The OEO's community action program has distributed less than 16 per cent of its funds to rural areas. Spokesmen said one reason is the lack of skilled public administrators in rural areas who could apply for the federal funds.

But Lewis said today in an interview the proposed program would go far beyond battling poverty.

"For one thing, we want to attract new industry," he said. "We're organizing a nationwide campaign to encourage businesses with expansion plans to locate in rural areas and to provide jobs for young people in rural areas without much training."

Lewis said some studies indicate as few as 1 of 10 farm boys can expect to make a living on the farm.

MSU Honors Six On Its Faculty

EAST LANSING (AP) — Six Michigan State university teachers and researchers received MSU's most coveted faculty awards Monday night — the $1,000 Distinguished Faculty Awards.

The six were Dr. Charles Hirschfeld, professor of humanities; Dr. Glenn L. Johnson, agricultural economics; Dr. Thomas H. Osgood, physics and astronomy; Dr. Norman Rich, history; Dr. Max T. Rogers, chemistry, and Dr. Thomas A. Staudt, marketing and transportation administration.

Faculty, alumni and students nominated candidates for the awards. Faculty committees narrowed the field and final selection was by the president, the vice president for research development and the provost.

Indira Gandhi Govt. Attacked

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi came under strong political attack today after only 23 days in office. A censure motion against her government was introduced in Parliament and thousands of demonstrators paraded the capital's streets.

The censure motion charged Mrs. Gandhi had not dealt firmly with the food riots in the southwest state of Kerala earlier this month.

Many more than the required 50 Parliament members supported the motion and thus forced Mrs. Gandhi to debate the issue.

Allied Drive Flushes More VC Battalions

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Allied drive against Viet Cong bastions around Bong Son and the An Lao Valley has driven several more Communist battalions out of hiding and inflicted heavy punishment on them, military spokesmen reported today.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces claimed 316 more Viet Cong killed by infantry, artillery and air action, raising the total enemy dead reported in the big operation 300 miles north of Saigon to 1,611 since mid-January.

Government troops launched several operations in the Mekong Delta and claimed 110 Viet Cong killed and 6 captured in an hour-long battle 43 miles southwest of Saigon.

Patrol Boat Lost

The U.S. Navy lost its first Swift patrol boat to a Viet Cong mine, and several of the six American crewmen were killed or injured.

The speedy patrol boat was sunk 250 yards off the southern coast in the Gulf of Thailand, 145 miles southwest of Saigon. Survivors picked up by a Vietnamese junk said the mine was detonated from the shore.

The squadron of 22 Swifts patrols the coastline constantly in search of Communist shipping carrying supplies to the Viet Cong.

U.S. spokesmen claimed that U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots operating over South Viet Nam smashed 425 Viet Cong buildings Monday and early today, hit three gun emplacements, sank 12 sampams and killed an estimated 30 Viet Cong. They reported 10 secondary explosions, presumably ammunition or fuel.

Viet Cong Strike

The Viet Cong struck twice early today near the provincial capital of Tam Ky in the central part of South Viet Nam and inflicted "moderate to fairly heavy" casualties on government militiamen.

The Communists overran an outpost defended by an estimated 60 to 80 men two miles northwest of Tam Ky and held it for five hours. The post was retaken by about 900 reinforcements after Vietnamese air force A4 Skyraiders pounded the area. One estimate placed the Red attack force at 300 men.

Munising To Get Clean City Honor

WASHINGTON (AP)— Cleancities awards will be presented by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson today to representatives of 24 cities, including Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grayling, Livonia, Munising and Southfield, Mich. The cities won in the 1965 National Cleanest Town Achievement Award Contest. Royal Oak received honorable mention.

Labor Testy About Johnson Stand On Wages

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Labor leaders began gathering today for their annual session in the sun, but seemed more in a mood to get heated up over grievances with the Johnson administration and Congress.

"Our boys are more than a little burned up," said a spokesman for the AFL-CIO Construction and Building Trades Department, opening a series of meetings of the 13-million member labor federation.

The construction unions are angry over being singled out by the Johnson administration for "excessive" wage hikes and a proposal by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz for compulsory contract settlements.

Wirtz To Speak

Wirtz is scheduled to address the labor leaders next week and a source close to AFL-CIO President George Meany quoted Meany as saying: "I don't know what kind of reception he's going to get, but it's going to be rough."

The federation's Maritime Trade Department, meeting later this week, is ready to sound off against government policies which union leaders claim will cripple the U.S. Merchant Marine.

At the main show, the AFL-CIO executive council starting next Monday, leaders reportedly will denounce increasing White House pressure to hold down wage demands as a curb against inflation.

Labor spokesmen point to soaring business profits in refusing to abide by White House wage guidelines.

To Reject Plea

The building trades meeting today and Wednesday reportedly will formally reject the secret Wirtz proposal for nationwide compulsory contract settlements in the construction industry.

"I won't tell our people not to accept anything they can get from employers," said one of the building union presidents, Hunter P. Wharton of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

Wharton's union was the target of a complaint to the White House by New Jersey contractors over a recent settlement providing a top wage scale of more than $7 per hour for some crane operators.

Undersecretary of Labor John F. Henning talked with President C. J. Haggerty of the Building Trades Department in advance of today's meeting.

Henning reportedly was told the construction unions will summarily turn down the compulsory wage settlement plan.

The AFL-CIO leaders also are expected to blast Congress for shelving a bill aimed at wiping out state laws that ban union shop contracts under which all employes must join the union.

CATV Control Taken By FCC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission today asserted jurisdiction over all community antenna television—CATV — systems but wiped out its controversial 15-day nonduplication rule.

The commission said CATV systems will be required to avoid duplicating the programs of local television stations only on the day they are broadcast by the local stations — not 15 days before and after such a broadcast as the old rule had required.

The FCC imposed the 15-day rule last April in asserting jurisdiction over those CATV systems using microwave facilities to relay the programs of distant stations to the master CATV antenna.

The commission extended its control today to all 1,600 systems—including those that use only a master antenna to pull in television signals in the area.

But it said it is revising the rules imposed last April to wipe out the 15-day rule completely.

The unanimous decision of the seven-man commission to end that limitation was seen as a victory for the fast-growing CATV industry. It has vigorously opposed the 15-day blackout requirement, which much of the broadcasting industry has demanded for protection of television stations.

The commission said it will again ask Congress for legislation "designed to express basic national policy in the CATV field" and to clarify and confirm FCC jurisdiction over CATV. Congress held hearings on the problem last year but has not enacted any legislation.

Can't Conceive Of Atom Bomb Use On Hanoi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has told senators the United States doesn't aim to hole up in enclaves or to escalate the war by trying to crush Ho Chi Minh's regime in North Viet Nam.

For those who worry the conflict may inch toward a nuclear showdown, McNamara said he can't conceive of the United States using nuclear weapons in South Viet Nam.

McNamara's remarks were in previously censored testimony early this month before the Senate Armed Services and Appropriations committees but made public today on the eve of Senate debate on Viet Nam.

He revealed a report, based on interrogation of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese prisoners, which concluded that stepped-up U.S. action on the ground and in the air had taken "a toll of Viet Cong morale and combat effectiveness."

Viet Building Up

Nevertheless, McNamara said, the Communists continue their buildup in the South and give evidence of plans for a further increase.

But he told the senators he was not prepared to say things will "get much worse before they get better."

The McNamara testimony was released as eight liberal House Democrats joined in a call for a military slowdown in Viet Nam, and admission of Red China to the United Nations.

The group recently set itself up as a special unofficial conference to study the Viet Nam problem and conferred with a group of experts it described as "particularly qualified" to discuss the situation.

The conference was sponsored by Reps. Benjamin S. Rosenthal of New York, Charles C. Diggs Jr., of Michigan, Don Edwards of California, Leonard Farbstein of New York, Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota, Robert W. Kastenmeier and Henry S. Reuss of Wisconsin and William F. Ryan of New York.

Peace Efforts

"There are diplomatic alternatives, not yet fully explored, to continued military escalation of the war in Viet Nam," the committee said. "Continued bombing of North Viet Nam is not in the American interest either in shortening the war or in improving prospects for a negotiated settlement. There should be no further escalation of American troop commitment."

The committee said the National Liberation Front, of which the Viet Cong is the military arm, "must be recognized as a principal belligerent in the war and as a necessary party to any peace conference settlement."

"Inability of the United Nations thus far to use its good offices to help end the Viet Nam war," the report continued, "dramatizes the urgency of including China as a full member of that institution."

The recommendations came on the heels of a prediction by the commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet that the Communists will be hard pressed to support their ground forces in South Viet Nam if the U.S. Navy and Air Force continue their heavy bombing of supply and infiltration routes.

Coeds Protest Fuzz Mania

COOKEVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — About 200 coeds at Tennessee Tech spent their Valentine's Day staging a protest against cultivation of beards by male students on the campus.

The mania over fuzz began several weeks ago when the student government decided to sponsor a month-long beard-growing contest in observance of Tech's 50th anniversary.

Wearing long gowns and night caps and carrying banners and huge reproductions of safety razors, electric shavers and razor blades, the coeds made it clear that they are tired of it all.

Jacobetti Wants Court To Cross Over The Bridge

LANSING (AP) — An Upper Peninsula legislator wants the State Court of Appeals to come north of the Straits of Mackinac twice a year.

In a letter to Chief Judge T. John Lesinski, Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, Recommended June and October sessions of the court in Marquette.

Jacobetti said he presented the idea to Lesinski, who asked him to submit his request in writing.

Although the court met twice in Marquette in its first year, Jacobetti said he feared that "many cases may be delayed in reaching the oral argument stage" without a regular semi-annual schedule.

Farm Clause In Comp Law May Aid Logger

State Senator Thomas Schweigert (R - Petoskey) a professional forester who is trying to relieve the current woods labor shortage which is crippling wood industries, sees hope of aid in a provision of the new Michigan Workmen's Compensation Act.

The act, passed by the Legislature in 1965 increases benefits more than 40 per cent and makes them applicable to all loggers employing one man or more. Previously the law applied only to employers of three men or more.

The compensation law changes are an important influence in the current shortage of forest labor as hundreds of small jobbers in the Upper Peninsula have quit the trade, or reduced their work forces to themselves or teamed with another man as partners and not employers.

John Walbridge, president of Early American Fence Co., said that the current cedar supply situation for Upper Peninsula rustic fence manufacturers is "terrible." Walbridge said: "I don't think we're going to get half of what we need to meet our needs and the other manufacturers are in the same trouble."

He added that the situation in sawtimber cedar, which is used by American Timber Homes, Inc., for its vacation homes, is much better, probably because prices for this sort of wood are at record high levels.

Senator Schweigert told his proposal for remedy of the compensation problem to a meeting of timber producers at the Legion Hall, Rapid River on Feb. 11. He said that he was exploring with responsible officials in Lansing the possibility of bringing cedar and pulpwood cutters under the agricultural employes provisions of the compensation act.

This applies to employers of only three or more agricultural workers, not one, and it does not apply until May 1, 1966, and there may be a one or two year moratorium on the clause after that time.

Schweigert told the timber producers that he felt the chance of state classification of cedar and pulpwood cutters under this clause was reasonably good. It would provide an immediate solution of the problem of the small jobber created by heavy compensation costs.

C&NW Railway Defends Region

There would be continuing favorable effect on the Upper Peninsula region and the Midwest if the Chicago & North Western Railway's proposal to acquire control of the Rock Island Railroad is approved, groups in Escanaba were told on Monday.

The speakers were D. A. Underwood, C&NW district sales agent, Escanaba, and H. B. Buchholz, manager, industrial development, Milwaukee.

Information they presented to the Kiwanis Club and to the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce included an analysis of the proposed merger.

The analysis carries a listing of the number of railroad employes by states, showing that the C&NW employs 406 persons in the Upper Peninsula and that employe payrolls by the North Western total $2,992,000 annually in the region.

The North Western has 467 miles of track in the U.P., with a total of 119 pre-pay stations.

The expenditures of the C&NW in the Upper Peninsula run into millions of dollars annually.

For the period 1960-64 expenditures for maintenance of way and equipment is reported as $15,793,000 by the North Western in this region.

Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the board, C&NW Railway Co., in the analysis "fact book," comments:

"We are convinced that a Union Pacific-Rock Island merger would be a loaded gun aimed at the heartland of America.

"The North Western, on the other hand, now has before the Commission a proposal which we believe will strengthen this same heartland. Our application for control for the purpose of merger with the Rock Island is the best means for developing a strong regional transportation system that will contribute to the growth of the midwestern economy."

Calling All Donors:

Need More Blood For Servicemen

There is a growing need for blood to meet the requirements of servicemen in Vietnam and the Red Cross is issuing an urgent call for donors in advance of the first visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile to Delta County March 1, 2 and 3.

There is a 40,000 unit quota for blood collections by Feb. 28 and the Department of Defense advises that it will ask for collection of another 40,000 blood units starting March 1.

The Red Cross collects the blood at the request of the Defense Department. It is turned over to the Department, much of it as blood fractions, for use by American servicemen in South Vietnam and in U.S. military hospitals at home and overseas.

The bloodmobile will make five visits to Delta County in 1966 — with an increased quota of 307 units per visit.

Recruiting Drive

The first day collections will be in Gladstone and the next two days in Escanaba on each visit in March, May, July, September and December.

To meet the growing need for blood, the Red Cross in Delta County will conduct recruitment in many areas — through the downtown business district, in industry, service organizations, college youth, hospital and city employes.

The Red Cross said it is hopeful that additional people will be reached by recruitment workers "but anyone who is not approached is asked to call the Red Cross for an appointment to save a life."

So that everyone may be fully informed regarding the blood program, questions relating to it may be addressed to Dr. E. James Gordon, medical director, Red Cross Blood Program, care of the Escanaba Daily Press.

Invite Questions

For example, there is the question:

"Who may give blood?"

Answer - "Almost everyone. There are few categories who cannot give blood. A person who has had an attack of malaria within the last 24 months, and a person who has had infectious jaundice or hepatitis — anyone suffering from an infectious disease may not give. A pregnant woman cannot give blood.

"Otherwise, anyone between 18 and 60 in reasonably good health can give blood without noticing it."

The bloodmobile schedule for March:

March 1 - James T. Jones School, Gladstone, 3 to 7 p.m.; March 2 - First Presbyterian Church, Escanaba, 2:30 to 7:30 p.m.; March 3 - same location, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Rev. Ross Stoakes, Former Methodist Pastor Here, Dies

PETOSKEY — Services for Rev. Ross W. Stoakes, 78, retired Methodist minister who died Friday were held today at First Methodist Church here. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

He served eight pastorates in the north Indiana conference prior to joining the Michigan Methodist Conference in 1934 and served in Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie before coming to Petoskey in 1943.

He retired in 1950, then served as interim pastor for the First Christian Church here and the United Church of Christ here and in Brutus.

The Rev. Stoakes came to Escanaba and the First Methodist Church in 1933 and was assigned to Sault Ste. Marie in 1937.

He was born in Indiana and was a graduate of Taylor University and of the Conference Theological Courses. His family during his residence in Escanaba included Mrs. Stoakes and two sons, Ross Jr. and Max.

Three Honored By NMU Society

MARQUETTE—Laurie Mankiewicz, Rock; Larry Miller, Manistique; and Sarah Pineau, Rapid River, were among thirty-nine Northern Michigan University students recently initiated into the Delta Zeta Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education.

The Delta Zeta Chapter of Kappa Delta will hold its spring initiation in April.

Cancer Society Aids Detection

To assist in the development of facilities to better detect and control cancer, the Delta County Chapter of the American Cancer Society is purchasing auxiliary equipment for the x-ray department at St. Francis Hospital, it is announced by Charles Anspaugh, Gladstone, president of the Cancer Society.

The cost of the new accessories will be $225 and is from funds contributed to the Society in the annual Cancer Crusade.

The cone and adaptor that is being purchased will be added to the portable x-ray machine already in service in the Hospital.

Dr. N. J. Theisen, radiologist at the hospital, said the accessory to be provided from Cancer Society funds will facilitate the early detection of breast cancer by providing an "extremely soft x-ray picture that is easily read."

Anspaugh directed public attention to the American Cancer Society's emphasis on education as the most effective weapon against cancer: Early detection, diagnosis and treatment are the controls that could save one in every two cancer cases.

Delinquents On Campus

One of the first reactions to announcement that Northern Michigan University had been awarded a $2,725,000 grant by the Office of Economic Opportunity for the creation of a Job Corps Center for women on its campus was a father saying: "I'd never let a child of mine go to Northern while it's there!"

Northern's administration knew that it was inviting difficulties in developing the Job Corps Center program which the federal government has now promised to finance, but it went ahead anyway.

Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern, said when the grant was announced by Congressman Raymond Clevenger (D-Sault Ste. Marie) "there are calculated risks involved. There will be incidents that will cause comment. There will be people saying 'Northern has no business in this sort of program.' But if we're not going to be involved in the business of people; maybe we should go out of business."

* * *

Northern's board of control seems to have been of mixed mind about the center, but of course it approved or there wouldn't be any center. It's fate seems still to rest with Governor Romney, who has veto power over this type of Economic Opportunity Act project, which is channeled through the state governments.

What we're looking at here, presumably, is public judgment on whether Northern is serving a public need, or ambitions to build its campus and reputation for public services. It could be doing both properly.

The offensive element seems to be a situation in which delinquent and pre-delinquent girls are to be rehabilitated. These are not girls (16 to 21) who have criminal records; they are girls who have been socially deprived. As a result some of them have had brushes with society.

If there is no place in our society for these girls to make a new start with some substantial help in creating a system of human values we have a very serious deficiency. It means that we tolerate waste of human beings and that the materialism for which America is so much criticized by foreigners is truly a national fault.

* * *

A question might still be raised whether Northern is the proper place for such a Job Corps Center. It is notable that it is the first in the nation on a university campus, but there must be a first for anything and a university campus is uniquely equipped to serve some of the needs that exist in this situation. The university administration considered these problems and decided that it should venture.

The decision was both courageous and indicative of the new role of the university in America, not only in education, but in the economy, the culture, the social fabric and government. The university is developing in America as a prime instrument of synthesis; putting together all the elements of our democracy into a working whole.

* * *

The willingness of Northern to undertake this project reflects confidence coming from this enlarging role. If these girls are to be helped to useful lives it will not be in a school for wayward girls; they are already the victims of an environment that pushes them in that direction.

There must be a suspicion that if this were a Job Corps Center for boys there would not be much criticism in prospect and if this is true, the criticism is not tolerable, because no double standard is tolerable.

Some adults may be critical about the center, but Northern students shouldn't be. It is a rescue operation for the world they're going to live in. Students on our big state campuses are creating Student Education Corps programs to help the underprivileged as volunteers. Governor Romney lauded them in a speech at Northern last week honoring Dr. Harden. This is the sort of thing that makes America truly great. There'll probably be a role for volunteers in the Job Corps program at Northern and it should be welcomed.

Dr. White Tells How

To Prevent Heart Disease

By PAUL DUDLEY WHITE

BOSTON—(NEA)—We have all been looking long and hard at the appalling figures recounting the toll of heart disease among the ranks of men in the prime of life. I have been making a special point of citing these statistics in my appeals to women to help save and prolong the lives of their menfolk.

Latest U.S. Census data shows that of 8,815,000 widows in the United States, about one third — nearly 3 million — are between the ages of 35 and 64. Almost a million are under 50. And each year, another 100,000 women join their ranks, widowed by heart attack deaths among men aged 45-64.

Why do I talk to women about such overwhelming and seemingly relentless tragedy? Why not write it off to fate and let it go?

There are two answers to these questions (which are not as rhetorical as they sound):

● As a doctor, I have been trained to look at sickness and death in the context of medical history and medical knowledge. I know, for one, that other epidemics that were once the scourge of mankind have been conquered, some in my own lifetime.. And I know that the best scientific resources of six continents are bent on the conquest of heart disease, if not in my lifetime, most likely in yours.

● On the basis of what we do know about diseases of the heart and blood vessels, we can already take a number of measures now to roll back the tide of heart attacks. And women can play a strategic role in mounting this counter-attack on the home front.

Dr. Paul Dudley White

A scant dozen years ago I couldn't have made this statement, but so swift has been the advance of scientific research that we are now able to identify environmental and personal factors which are associated with an excessive risk of heart and blood vessel disease. Their effects—alone and in combination—have been measured and we have learned that people who have several of these risk factors are in multiple jeopardy.

* * *

Acting on this knowledge, we doctors can spot a poor risk among our patients and recommend changes in his diet or his program otherwise or prescribe treatment to arrest or slow the course of disease in the poor-risk individual.

More significantly, physicians, health agencies and the general public can join forces to modify features of our way of life that may be at work to raise everybody's risk. Since the United States has an extremely high death rate from coronary heart disease—probably the highest in the world—the social aspects of the problem cannot be ignored.

The risk factors which have emerged from long-term population studies of thousands of men and women in various parts of the country fall into two major categories: those we can't do anything about (age, sex and, as yet, heredity); and those we CAN change and control. In the latter category, these half-dozen have been found guilty by association high risk of heart attacks: high levels of cholesterol and other fats in the blood; diabetes; overweight; lack of physical activity; cigarette smoking; high blood pressure.

* * *

With the help of his doctor, his wife and his Heart Association, a man can do something about any and every one of these factors which might be adding to his risk of having a heart attack.

Where do the wives come in? They have a vested interest in the object of this program: to keep their husbands alive and well. They also hold the key to the modification of a number of the risk factors cited, and therefore to the health of the whole family.

Author

Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston is widely regarded as the world's most eminent cardiologist.

His 55-year medical career began a few months before a Chicago physician made the first definitive diagnosis of heart attack, and has spanned one of the most productive chapters in the annals of medical achievement.

Perhaps more so than any other physician he is what might be termed "a living legend." He thinks of the American Heart Assn., which he helped to found 42 years ago and of which he is a former president, as "a major part of my life and my work."

The association now is conducting its annual Heart Fund campaign which reaches its climax on the weekend of Heart Sunday, Feb. 20, when Heart volunteers throughout the nation visit their neighbors to distribute heart-saving information and to receive Heart Fund contributions.

Letters To The Press

Contributions are welcome. They cannot be over 300 words and must be signed with name, address and phone number of writer and names will be used. The right to condense letters is reserved.

MOVIES

Mr. Orville Olsen's letter of the 9th certainly echoed the feelings of many who would like to enjoy a movie now and again at the local theatres. Even the children refuse to go to a matinee anymore, not that any of them are worth seeing anyway.

However, since we are evening-goers, our beef is with the young ladies who run the refreshment concession as well as the ticket offie. During a sparsely-attended and very serious drama, their gossiping and giggling was so audible even as far down as we sat that we could not hear the dialogue. After requesting their silence it was repeated after a few minutes. Ask for the manager and he isn't there. In fact, only after long inquiry from time to time have I learned the name of the present manager.

Not that it matters, for as often as we go anymore . . .

Foreign Aid Change Urged

DETROIT (AP) — New York banker David Rockefeller urged today that U.S. Foreign aid be channeled to fewer recipients —especially to nations trying to cope with the problems of too many people and not enough food.

Rockefeller, president of Chase Manhattan Bank, told the Economic Club of Detroit in prepared remarks:

"The problems of population and the productiveness of agriculture must be given a new and far greater emphasis in all thinking and actions relating to the economic advance of the developing world."

"Dispersing our investment efforts among dozens of nations usually results in making our contribution to each of them too small . . . at the same time depriving those relatively few which could competently utilize more aid," Rockefeller said.

An underveloped nation's advancement potential, he suggested, depends largely on birth control and increased farm output. If progress is not made in these areas, he said, "widespread famine will be a grim condition of life — or rather of death — in large areas of the world."

Teacher Spoils Santa For Boy

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing about something that has been on my mind since before Christmas. It's about my little brother, Howard, who is in the second grade.

Howard is a bright, happy little boy. He believed in Santa Claus and his eyes would sparkle when he asked if Santa knew for sure that he had been a good boy so he would stop at our house.

The day before school closed for the Christmas holidays Howard came home in tears. The teacher had told the second graders that there was no Santa Claus--that he was a made-up, story-book person, like Alice in Wonderland.

Howard was heartbroken. It was as if he had lost a dear friend. My mother and dad are very upset. They feel that the teacher had no right to do this. What do you say?--SIS

Dear Sis: Some second graders probably know that Santa Claus was a made-up person because they learned it at home And home is where they ought to learn it.

It was cruel of the teacher to rob some of the youngsters of their make-believe friend. Fantasies bring children joy. They vanish all too soon.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I am 26, a college graduate, single, well-heeled, better than average looking, good family, I guess you might say I have just about everthing going for me. So why can't I get girls?

I can get a date whenever I want one, but what I mean is that I see some pretty mediocre guys showing up with one knock-out after the other, while I wind up with other dogs.

I know it's pretty hard to advise me, not knowing me personally, so I'll just settle for some general suggestions. What does a guy have to say — or do, or be to score big with the ladys? — MR. OO7½

Dear Mr.: It's like that old line about asking how much does it cost to own a villa in the South of France. If you have to ask — forget it, Bub.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: My brother's wife (I will call her Myrtle) has told me in strict confidence that she has run up some enormous bills in the city's best stores. Most of the things she buys (jewelry, handbags, dresses) are gifts for her mother. The poor girl has always felt neglected and she has been trying to buy her mother's love by showering her with costly gifts.

Yesterday Myrtle showed me a set of earrings and beads that cost $40. She asked if I thought her husband would believe it if she told him the set cost $7. I think she could get away with it but I said "No", hoping to discourage her. She bought it anyway.

Shall I tell my brother what his wife is doing? He is a very understanding person and I believe he would be kind but firm. I feel guilty keeping quiet, knowing that one day the bill collectors will be on his doorstep. On the other hand, my sister-in-law has put her trust in me and I hate to tell on her. Am I — ACCOMPLICE OR BUSYBODY?

Dear A or B: The roof is going to cave in sooner or later. Let it fall of its own weight. Do what you can to persuade this foolish girl to confess to her husband what she's been doing, but don't betray her confidence.

Bechuanaland To Be Nation

LONDON (AP) — The machinery for dismantling the British Empire slipped smoothly into gear again today to prepare the way for independence for the 550,000 hungry Africans of Bechuanaland.

The constitutional conference that opened at Marlborough House was expected to be one of the quietest as well as one of the last of its kind.

Barring accidents, by Sept. 30 the Bechuanaland protectorate, will become the Independent Republic of Botswana, with Seretse Khama, now its prime minister, as its first president.

The Doctor Says:

Decision On Surgery

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q — Three years ago I was told by a kidney specialist that I had an enlargement of the pelvis of both my kidneys. He said that unless I had an operation on both sides I would develop heart failure in 10 years or less. His diagnosis was based solely on X rays.

I was so worried I consulted a second specialist. He took X rays but he also made several tests of my kidney function and asked me many questions about my present and past health. He advised no operation because he said that, although the pelvis of both kidneys was enlarged, my kidneys were functioning perfectly.

He said that the size of the kidney pelvis alone, with no accompanying headache or high blood pressure, was not sufficient reason to perform an operation which was successful in only about 50 per cent of cases He advised a periodic checkup.

Which opinion do you think is the more reliable?

A — This interesting story illustrates the fact that it is often wise to get a second opinion when a serious operation is being considered. In this case I must side with the second consultant because it would seem that he took the trouble to make a more thorough investigation than the first. Furthermore, the reasons he gave for his opinion are sound. If you had gone to him in the first place, however, I doubt that you would have been inclined to seek a second opinion.

Q — What is Hemophilus influenzae? Our two children got it last year. Could we be carriers of this disease?

A — Influenza is a group of acute respiratory diseases caused by viruses and not, as formerly thought, by the bacillus, Hemophilus influenzae. This bacillus is commonly found in the nose and throat of normal persons. Some authorities believe that in persons, especially infants, with colds or influenza this germ may aggravate the disease but absolute proof is lacking. Carriers do not present the special problems in influenza that they do in a disease such as typhoid.

Q — I have liver spots on my face. My doctor says it is Clo Asthma. What causes it and what will help it?

A — The term liver spot is applied to different types of smooth brownish spots on the skin. One type, chloasma, appears only above the neck. It may be associated with ovarian disease, cirrhosis of the liver, tuberculosis, cancer, normal pregnancy, thyroid deficiency, various types of malnutrition or may occur for no discoverable reason.

A search should be made for the cause so that it can be removed. Failing this, a lotion or ointment containing the monobenzyl ether of hydroquinone may be helpful. In some persons this treatment is more effective if vitamin C is taken at the same time.

When Indecision Can Be Alarming

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — The priest asked Antonio Naddeo, 28, whether he would take Concetta Savarese, also, 28, in holy matrimony.

"Excuse me, I wasn't listening," said Antonio.

The priest repeated his question. "I don't want her," Antonio replied and walked out of the church.

Concetta fainted.

Distraught relatives revived her and persuaded Antonio to return to the altar.

The priest put the question again. Antonio sighed and said, "Yes."

Liberals Back Reagan

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Though most of Ronald Reagan's neighbors on San Anofre Drive in Pacific Palisades share his conservative views, many of them were quite upset at the California Republican gubernatorial candidate last year when the cost of repaving their street was divided on an equal share basis.

The grumblers argued that the cost should be apportioned on a frontage basis, and—since Reagan's frontage is practically double anyone else's—they felt he was getting off pretty light.

When a Reagan neighbor of known liberal persuasion recently revealed to a friend that he was planning to spend two days a week working for Reagan's election, he was asked why. His answer:

"It's the only way we can get him off the street."

One of the disarming things about Democratic National Chairman John Bailey is that he has never tried to conceal the fact that he devotes a good part of his time to politics in his home state of Connecticut.

The visitor should not be surprised if, during a chat, he sees Bailey suddenly pick up a special green telephone standing apart from his regular office lines.

When he is finished talking, he may explain quite simply:

"That's my Connecticut phone. Nobody else ever picks it up. Everybody knows it's just for me."

Democratic Gov. John King smashed a long standing Republican tradition when he won election in New Hampshire. He is not about to forget that he needs plenty of GOP votes to gain another term this November.

Speaking recently in Boston to a wholly Democratic gathering, he began:

"Fellow Republicans . . . And that's a lapse that doesn't hurt me at all in my state of New Hampshire . . ."

When Republican Senate leader Everett Dirksen announced recently that a new "grass roots" movement was under way in support of his constitutional amendment to modify "one man-one-vote" reapportionment, Sen. Frank Church, Idaho Democrat, was sitting with him.

Church, generally classified as a liberal, seemed just a bit discomfited in company with his conservative colleague.

Asked later how he felt about supporting a measure sponsored by Dirksen and so many other conservatives,, Church defined his reaction by telling this story:

"A school teacher asked all those in her class of youngsters to raise their hands if they wanted to go to heaven. All but two shot their hands up.

"The two kids were kept after class a moment. The teacher asked one: 'Johnny, why didn't you raise your hand with the others? Don't you want to go to heaven?'

"Johnny replied: 'Sure I do, but not with this crowd.'"

Dickey-Bird Hair Styles New For Spring

National Beauty Salon Week will be celebrated throughout the nation the week of Feb. 13-19.

"Wing Into Spring With A New Hairdo," is the theme chosen for this year. The new spring styles offered by the official hair fashions committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association will be shown nation-wide during this week.

The new 'Dickey-Bird" styles feature perky crests of wavelets, soft bangs which are head hugging to maintain a close to the head look.

Working at the school were Joyce Keane and Louise Weissert of Escanaba and Roberta Stevens of Gladstone; at the nursing home were, Kay Gobert, Ann Carlson and Delores Palmquist of Gladstone.

Would you believe your car's vehicle identification number might be worth $2,332.00 in cash to you?

(This odd figure is also the price of a Buick Special*. Pleasant surprise, isn't it?)

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS: Check that car registration of yours. If the first symbols of your vehicle identification number on it match up with one of those listed at the right, you might have won yourself $2,332 cash. No slogan to invent, no puzzle to solve. To find out for sure if you won, just hop down to your nearest Buick dealer's. He's got a list of complete winning numbers posted. (No, you don't have to own a Buick to have a winning number.) If your complete vehicle identification number appears on his list—you're in the money.

Hospital Boosts Nurses Salaries

Registered nurses at St. Francis Hospital have been given $30 monthly salary increases to bring the hospital into a more competitive position with other Upper Peninsula facilities, according to John Haines, associate administrator.

The nursing salary increases, plus other wage boosts forced by the new minimum wage laws, will cost the hospital about $40,000 per year.

Starting salary for staff or general duty nurses was boosted from $345 to $375 per month. Charge nurses — afternoon and night nurses in charge of nursing stations — have been increased from $355 to $385 and head nurse starting salaries were raised from $375 to $410 per month.

Haines said the wage increases were approved as part of a continuing effort on the part of the hospital administration to bring salaries into line with recommendations by the Michigan Nursing Association and also in hopes of making employment at St. Francis more attractive to registered nurses.

Regular increments of $5 per month every six months for two and a half years are also included in the new schedule.

Haines said the new minimum wage law requires a minimum salary for all employes of $1.15 per hour. He said this forced upward adjustments in other employment areas also.

Higher salaries will be financed, in part, by taking away fringe benefits from part-time employes, Haines said. This was done to improve salaries of all employes and also to encourage full-time employment.

Haines said the hospital has need for services of professional nurses and that the administration hopes the salary increases will draw more nurses to the hospital.

He also said that as yet no successor to his position as associate administrator has been made. Haines has accepted a position as associate administrator of a new hospital at Fridley, Minn., a suburb of Minneapolis, and will leave Escanaba at the end of this week.

Council To Honor Jacob A. Bink, Retired Member

Jacob A. Bink, recently retired member of the Escanaba City Council, will be honored in testimonials to be presented at the meeting of the Council in the City Hall Thursday night.

City Manager George Harvey said the agenda, topped by the ceremony honoring Mr. Bink, will include: An evaluation of the Board of Appeals; setting of a date to hear objections for alley paving; authorization to purchase shelving for the Carnegie Public Library; and action on a letter of resignation from Howard Fontaine from the Civil Service Commission.

The Council meeting will begin at 8 p.m. and friends of Mr. Bink and the general public are expected to attend. Councilman Bink retired for reasons of health.

Post Office Asks Test For Seasonal Aides

A nationwide competitive examination is announced for temporary summer employment in a number of larger post offices throughout the country by Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien and Civil Service Commission Chairman John W. Macy Jr.

The new examination was developed as part of the previously announced plan to assure that selections for summer jobs are made on the basis of merit.

The examination will be used to select the best qualified applicants for employment as seasonal assistants between May 1 and Sept. 30, 1966. Applications for the positions, which pay $2.37 an hour, will be accepted through Feb. 24. A written test taking less than one hour will be held in March in over 1,000 cities.

Seasonal assistants are hired during the summer to assist the regular postal work force in handling the mail. Some assignments require operation of motor vehicles and candidates for these jobs will have to demonstrate ability to drive safely.

Post Office Department points out that seasonal assistants will be needed in only a limited number of post offices, generally larger ones.

Eligibles will be given ratings based on test scores, and offers of employment will be made first to those in the highest group. Veterans in each group must be selected ahead of nonveterans.

Applicants must be at least 18 years old at time of appointment; however, this minimum age is waived for high school graduates who will be at least 16 years old at the time they enter on duty.

County Welfare Costs Increase, Report Reveals

Welfare costs in Delta County in 1965 increased $167,941 over 1964, including a pump of $33,628 in aid to dependent children payments according to the annual department report prepared by Thomas McDermott, social welfare director.

Other large increases came in hospitalization costs and direct relief payments.

Total spending for 1965 in the county was $1,135,226 compared with $967,285 in 1964. Cost to Delta County taxpayers for 1965, however, was only $160,356—a drop of about $29,000 from 1964 because of increased participation by state and federal programs.

The average monthly case load for aid to dependent children (ADC) rose from 127 in 1964 to 150 last year.

Probe ADC Increases

(ADC payments are made largely to widows, divorcees and women separated from their husbands who have young children to support and who don't receive adequate compensation from husbands or other sources.)

Charles Sedenquist of Wells, advisory member of the Social Welfare Board and chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, charged at a recent board meeting that the increase was caused by husbands intentionally faulting on support payments to their families after divorce or separation, forcing women to apply for ADC funds.

"Too many of these guys are running around having a good time at public expense," Sedenquist said.

McDermott, while he admitted that Sedenquist's contention may be partially true, minimized its effect in Delta County and pointed to more divorces and marriage separations as the primary cause for ADC increase.

Checks Impossible

Friend of the Court Michael Lalich, who works the Welfare Department on cases where support payments have been neglected, also acknowledged that some men may be deliberately avoiding payment but pointed out that detailed checks on every ADC applicant by the Welfare Dept. are impossible.

There are cases, he said, where men make partial payments or pay one month and not the next. He pointed out that while a person could be held in contempt of court and jailed, it would not solve the problem to cut off the man's income.

Attorney William Anderson, Welfare Board member, said part of the problem arises from inadequate support judgements from the court. An award of $40 per child per month, may take care of food and clothing, he said, but that doesn't include shelter heat, and utilities.

Relief Increases

McDermott said direct relief spending increased because of changes in qualification laws. The Welfare Department now supplements income for persons living in their own homes. Previously only nursing home patients, etc., qualified. Average monthly case load increased from 119 in 1964 to 160 last year under the new provisions.

Other expenditures in 1965, the report showed, included $1,515 for maintenance and repairs at the Delta Convalescent Home; $13,593 for Pinecrest Medicare Facility; $18,529 for administration; $326,189 for old age assistance; $77,887 aid to disabled; $3,869 aid to blind; and $36,161 aid to dependent unemployed.

Old age assistance, ADC, aid to disabled, aid to blind and aid to dependent unemployed payments were made entirely by the federal government.

Boy Scouts Aid City Effort To Lure Tourists

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce today expressed its appreciation to Kiwanis Boy Scout Troop No. 444 under the direction of Rev. Ben Helmer for its assistance in promoting tourism for the City of Escanaba.

The troop assembled the Escanaba tourist folder which is made up of two parts, an advertising insert and a colored brochure which must be assembled before distribution at eight Midwest travel shows, Columbus, Indianapolis, two shows at Detroit, two at Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis. The folders are also to be distributed at Midwest travel bureaus and highway information centers and sent to inquirers.

Fifty thousand of the folders were assembled by the Boy Scouts. "The Chamber is very appreciative of this assistance," said Chamber Manager Walter Lewke.

The AP's statewide panel of sports writers and sportscasters retained East Detroit as the leader in A. Frankenmuth (tied last week with Muskegon Christian) in C and Covert in D.

South Carolina Slows It Down, But

Freeze Not 'Cool' Enough

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

South Carolina gave Duke the cold shoulder on Valentine's night but it didn't break the Blue Devils' hearts this time.

The Gamecocks, who had stunned second-ranked Duke last December, tried a freeze at Durham, N.C., that must have had Dan Cupid shivering Monday night but the Blue Devils hung on for a 41-38 Atlantic Coast Conference victory.

Duke, with high-scorer Bob Verga sitting out his second straight game for disciplinary reasons, shot into a 29-20 lead with a minute gone in the second half when South Carolina put on the stall.

The Gamecocks' slowdown and some erratic shooting by Duke narrowed the lead to 34-31 with 4½ minutes to play. But Steve Vacendak hit two long jumpers and Jack Marin sank three free throws that kept the Blue Devils on top.

"We couldn't run with them," reasoned South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire, defending his freeze. "It was our one chance."

South Carolina's slowdown looked like a fast break compared to the iceberg Midwestern and LeTourneau Tech, two small Texas schools, exchanged.

Midwestern scored the first two baskets of the game and it was 4-2 when LeTourneau, which had lost 82-56 the first time the two teams met, went into a stall with 16:50 left in the first half. Midwestern led 7-6 at the half.

The teams each managed one basket in the second half with the first points coming after 13½ minutes of stalling. The final score was Midwestern 9, LeTourneau 8 and the best news came after the final gun.

The two schools decided they won't play each other anymore.

The nation's top six teams in The Associated Press poll all played and won with Duke and third-ranked Texas Western getting the closest calls. The Miners edged Arizona State 69-67 despite 30 points by the losers' Freddie Lewis.

Top-ranked Kentucky won its 20th, walloping Alabama 90-67. Loyola of Chicago, ranked fourth, shot 56 per cent and routed Western Michigan 107-75. Vanderbilt, No. 5, wiped out a 12-pount deficit and defeated Auburn 91-76. Sixth-rated Providence got 31 points from Jimmy Walker and downed DePaul 61-57.

Creighton snapped St. John's three-game win string, tripping the visiting New Yorkers 86-67. West Virginia, returning home after two straight road defeats, walloped Pitt 103-63 with five men in double figures and all 12 WVU players scoring. Oklahoma City also romped, whacking Loyola of New Orleans 115-82.

Texas Western had its fourth straight close call. The Miners had beaten Arizona and New Mexico in overtime and edged Colorado State by two points in the last second, before nipping Arizona State at El Paso. David Lattin led the Miners, 19-0, with 19 points.

Tommy Kron's 23 points paced Kentucky to its 11th straight Southeastern Conference triumph. Pat Riley had 22 and Louie Dampier 18 for the Wildcats, who hit 51 per cent from the floor to beat Alabama at Tuscaloosa.

DIFFERENT RULE — Jack Rule has a few of his own rules about putting. For putts under 10 feet he uses a bent club. For the longer ones he uses the conventional putter. Here he gets set for a shot with the bent club.

Atlanta Looks At Grid Picks

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The new Atlanta Falcons get their first look today at the list of veteran players their 14 National Football League brethren will make available.

Falcons owner Rankin Smith, who paid a reported $8.5 million for the franchise, and Norb Hecker, his coach, both called the stocking plan "very fair." They will have about 24 hours to make known their 42 picks.

The NFL owners argued and labored for 5½ hours Monday afternoon and evening before devising a formula for stocking the baby franchise with veterans.

"I think it is a better plan than when Dallas and Minnesota were stocked," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, "because of the number available the draft and the players already signed."

Using the 40-man player rosters that opened the 1965 season as a base, the clubs are allowed to freeze 29 players. Atlanta then takes one of the remaining 11 from each of the 14 teams. The teams then freeze two more players and Atlanta selects two more of the eight remaining on each list.

At the end of the process the Falcons will have 42 men with NFL experience in 1965 plus 32 rookies and 19 veteran free agents already signed. Atlanta had first and last pick in each of the first five rounds of the college draft last November.

Texas Western Gains Stature

By The Associated Press

Texas Western, working overtime to maintain its unbeaten record, has made another advance in The Associated Press major-college basketball poll. The Miners now trail only top-ranked Kentucky and the runner-up Duke Blue Devils.

Texas Western defeated Arizona 81-72 and New Mexico 67-64, both in overtime, last week and lifted its record to 18-0.

Kentucky, the only other undefeated team, whipped Florida 85-75 and Auburn 77-64 for a 19-0 mark.

Duke dropped its second game of the campaign, 94-90 to West Virginia, then recovered for victories No. 16 and 17 over North Carolina State and Virginia, respectively.

In the latest poll based on games through last Saturday, Kentucky collected 40 first-place votes and 416 points. Eight-ranked St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania and unranked Dayton drew the only other ballots for the top position.

Duke was next with 355 points followed by Texas Western with 301. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

Texas Western's switch of positions with Chicago Loyola, which dropped one notch to fourth, was the only change in the rankings.

The Top Ten, with won-lost records through Feb.12, and points:

1.	Kentucky 19-0	416
2.	Duke 17-2	355
3.	Texas Western 18-0	301
4.	Chicago Loyola 17-2	247

Ranked Loyola Trims Broncos

CHICAGO (AP) — Fourth-ranked Loyola used a 56 per cent shooting average to run away from Western Michigan 107-75 Monday night for the Ramblers' 18th basketball victory in 20 games.

Frank Perez, filling in for the ineligible Alan Miller, led the Ramblers with 28 points, the highest of his collegiate career. He hit on 10 of 11 shots from the field in the second half.

Billy Smith backed Perez with 23 points while Corky Bell added 17.

The Ramblers made 45 of their 80 shots from the field.

Western Michigan was bothered by Loyola's pressing defense and committed 20 errors.

The Broncos trailed by only 31-29 with six minutes to go in the first half, but Loyola scored 10 straight points to break the game open.

Reggie Lacefield led Western Michigan with 19 points while Bob Blohm had 18.

Breaks Pettit's Career Mark

Wilt Is Greatest Scorer

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — This was the big one Wilt Chamberlain wanted most. And now he's got it — all-time leading scorer in the National Basketball Association.

"Sure, this has to be the big one for me and it is," the 7-foot-1 Philadelphia 76ers ace said Monday night after collecting 41 points to break the career mark set by the now-retired Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks.

Wilt's scoring splurge powered the 76ers past the Detroit Pistons 149-123 and spiraled Chamberlain's seven-year NBA total to 20,884, four over Pettit's standard.

In the only other game played, Dick Barnett scored 32 points in sparking the New York Knicks to a 138-125 victory over the San Francisco Warriors.

"This means more to me than anything, even more than scoring 100 points," Wilt said, referring to his 100-point performance against New York in a game four years ago.

"The scorers are getting better and better and I think someone will score 100 points, or maybe more," he said. "But this one may stick around for a while. And this means a lot because it means a sustained performance over a long time. Yep, I really wanted this."

Before some 5,000 fans in the Charleston Civic Center he played the role of playmaker in the first half and tallied only 10 points as Philadelphia ran up a 70-51 margin.

"That was the way it was supposed to be," Wilt said. "We looked real bad in our last two games and we wanted to shake the offense loose. This was the best way to do it but it meant I wasn't going to do much scoring.

"Oh, sure! I went after the record when we were 'way out front in the last quarter and the guys started to move the ball to me," Wilt said.

He went into the last 12 minutes with 22 points and then they started to come furiously. He dropped in six field goals and a free throw and the crowd started to chant, "give it to Wilt."

A stuff shot with 2:46 remaining gave him 37 points to tie Pettit's record and a free throw with one minute and 32 seconds left gave him the record.

Judge Refuses To Delay Trial

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin lawyers have nudged the state's antitrust suit against baseball a step closer to trial while taking potshots at what one of them called a "patsy proceeding" in Georgia.

Circuit Judge Elmer Roller refused Monday night to delay the Feb. 28 starting date for the trial. Baseball lawyers wanted a postponement to July 1.

Wisconsin lawyers predicted the trial could result in a clash between two court orders: one directing the Braves to play in Atlanta next season and one, if the state wins, ordering the Braves to play in Milwaukee.

Willard Stafford, special counsel for Wisconsin in the antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League, said that depending on the trial verdict "there may or may not be a conflict with this patsy proceeding in Georgia."

He referred to the injunction issued last week by Judge Sam Phillips McKenzie in Fulton County Superior Court directing the Braves to meet the terms of their 25-year-contract with the Atlanta Stadium Authority.

The reference to the Georgia injunction came during a hearing on two key defense motions. The first asked the court to lift its temporary order directing the Braves and the National League to prepare to place a team in Milwaukee this season. The second asked the court to delay the trial.

Roller reserved decision on the first motion while denying the second on grounds that the defense had raised no new objections to the trial date.

Bowie Kuhn, lawyer for the league, told Roller that his order to map plans to play in Milwaukee could cost baseball millions of dollars, ruin some teams, and bankrupt the Braves.

Kuhn said expansion in 1966 is impossible and submitted affidavits from the league owners in support of the contention. He also noted McKenzie's injunction ordering the Braves to play in Atlanta.

Northern Star Sets New Mark

MARQUETTE (AP) — Gene Summers dropped in 50 points Monday night to set a Northern Michigan University basketball scoring record and lead the Wildcats to a 135-61 nonconference romp over Michigan Tech.

Summers' tally broke the old mark of 47, set in 1961. Northern's 135 points tied the school scoring record.

Northern took a 72-30 lead into the second half and Tech was never close. Frank Schlman led the Huskies with 15 points.

Northern is 14-3 for the season. Michigan Tech is 1-13.

Gophers Tackle Iowa Hawkeyes

By The Associated Press

Minnesota's Gophers put their Big Ten title hopes on the line at Iowa Tuesday night.

The Gophers, currently in third place with a 5-2 record, will have to do what no other Big Ten team has been able to accomplish this season, defeating the Hawkeyes on their home floor.

Iowa (3-4) on the other hand has been unable to win on the road and thereby has been eliminated from title consideration.

If successful at Iowa, the Gophers would climb into a second-place tie with Michigan State, one game behind league-leading Michigan.

Indiana hit 50 per cent of its second-half shots and went on to an 81-61 victory over Ohio State Monday night. The victory lifted the Hoosiers into a sixth place tie with Northwestern and Ohio State.

Bob Dove of Ohio State led all scorers with 22 points but Indiana had six men in double figures.

Seventeen of the 30 exhibition baseball games listed by the Yankees for next spring will be against National League teams.

How can we sell a 10¢ cigar for 6¢?

It's no secret. We make more cigars of one brand than anyone and spend only a fraction for advertising. Still, sometimes we wish we could spend more advertising this fine cigar value. But, we'd have to raise our price or cut our quality. Then, we might not sell as many. What do you think?

GLADSTONE

City Continues Highway Debate

The Gladstone City Commission, which has opposed State Highway Department plans for an access interchange on U.S. 2 and 41 construction at the north city limits, made plans Monday to meet again with Highway officials to consider an alternate plan.

Plans for exit and entrance ramps to the city and surrounding areas have not been approved by the city commission and work on the proposed four-lane highway continuation has been delayed.

The commission has gone on record as favoring an interchange which would not hamper existing businesses in the area. No date was set for the meeting.

In other regular business, City Attorney Clair Hoehn was instructed to answer a letter from the State Health Dept. requesting installation of public sanitary facilities in the city trailer park to meet Health Dept. regulations. Hoehn said he does not believe such a building is necessary because all trailers have self-contained units.

Bids from Bero Implement Co. of Gladstone, Escanaba Machine Co., and Bark River Culvert & Equipment Co. for a back hoe and front loader were turned over to the City Manager for analysis and recommendation.

City Manager H. J. Henrikson was instructed to make appointments to the city housing commission, to a board to inspect installation of gas and oil furnaces and to the election board. Democrat Martin Cassell was reappointed to the Board of Convassers and Republican Thomas Aos, 1302 Lake Shore Dr., was appointed to replace Millet Caldwell, who did not wish another term.

Henrikson was authorized to purchase a coal supply unit for the power plant for $666 and Mayor Frank Stupak was given approval to attend a meeting in Lansing on March 16 to plan for the annual Mayor Exchange Day in May.

Bus Fares Rise At Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) —Bulk fare increases expected to yield an extra $39,000 per year were approved Monday by the Grand Rapids Transit Authority along with a special low fare for senior citizens.

Ira W. Jackson, general manager of Grand Rapids City Coach Lines Inc., said the new rates take effect Feb. 21. The basic rate for adults now is 30 cents per ride with a five-cent charge for transfers.

The new schedule leaves the basic fare unchanged for adults but provides they must buy 10 tickets at a time rather than four as at present, to get a special rate of 27½ cents per ticket. Student fare is 20 cents per ride but they must pay $1.85 under the new rate for 10 tickets instead of $1.50 at present.

Jackson noted the firm lost $15,000 last year and a new contract negotiated with union drivers and mechanics will cost an extra $27,000 per year.

Citizens over 65 will pay 20 cents per ticket and five cents per transfer on a 60-day trial basis to begin as soon as identification cards can be issued. The rates will be offered outside rush hours.

Word Of Caution:

Women Voters Hear Butler On Home Rule

A thoughtful and cautious approach to implementation of County Home Rule was advised by Delta County Clerk William Butler in a talk to a meeting of the Escanaba League of Women Voters in the Court House Monday evening.

About a dozen students of Mrs. Elnora Vader's government class of the Escanaba Area High School also attended.

"This is coming," the county clerk said of County Home Rule, "just as apportionment is; but it deserves a lot of thought in drawing up the statutes under which we must operate, so that we don't wind up in a muddle."

Cites Difficulties

He pointed out that state law would be permissive, just as it is now for cities. After legislation has been passed enabling counties to adopt home rule, a charter commission would have to be established either by a majority vote of its governing body or upon petition by the electors.

So far there has been no legislation as to how many members shall serve on a charter commission, nor as to whether they shall be appointed or elected; nor, if elected, whether from the county as a whole or from districts. This Charter Commission would then draw up a Charter which would, of course, be subject to all requirements of state statutes; and finally this Charter would be offered to the electorate to be voted on.

One of the difficulties which Butler forsees arises from the inter-relationship of township and county governments. For example, the township supervisor now serves as assessor and each township has a Board of Review; but under the County Manager form of government, he believes the county would set up an office of County Assessor.

Favors Elections

He doubted that counties will be able to find enough trained men to do the work and he estimates Delta County would need about 12 assessors; and he wondered who will constitute the Board of Review to be sure they understand values in all parts of the county.

Another problem comes from the fact that counties do not operate under one management as do cities; for instance, the Road Commission, Health Department and Social Welfare Department are separate entities, whose managers are not directly responsible to the Board of Supervisors, he said.

In a question and answer period, Butler was asked if this could be changed in the case of the Road Commission; he replied that no doubt it could, since it was set up by statute, it could also be changed by a vote of the people. Nothing in the State constitution defines exactly how this must be governed.

Butler said he believes the statutes should provide some measure of uniformity between counties to prevent confusion in record keeping so people will know where to refer. County Boards of Supervisors are now allowed to combine offices such as that of Clerk and Register of Deeds. Delta was one of the first to accept this and it was also a forerunner in establishing the county assessing office to provide assistance to supervisors and to provide equalization of assessments within the county.

He advocates the election rather than appointment of county officials because it stimulates a healthy interest in party politics.

He said he does not see any advantage in County Home Rule so far as economy of combined purchasing. "That can be done now, and is being done in some counties. The Board can appoint a comptroller," he said.

Butler concluded by outlining several methods of reapportionment which have been considered, and described their effect on Delta County. Here again he expressed his concern that care and consideration be exercised, and that the people move very deliberately in making any changes.

Steel Edges Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel production last week rose 4.5 per cent to 2.53 million tons from 2,422,000 tons the previous week, the American Iron and Steel Institute reports. Production for the year totaled 14.85 million tons, down 9.6 per cent from 16,432,000 a year earlier.

U.S. Push For Peace Is Told

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Pakistan today with a promise that the United States will push its so-far unsuccessful offensive to bring peace through negotiation to Viet Nam.

Humphrey flew 2,300 miles from Banghkok to Karachi after pledging bigger U.S. military aid to Thailand's leaders to cope with increasing Communist infiltration.

At Karachi airport, Humphrey told an audience: "My government has been and continues to be engaged in a most searching and intensive effort to bring about an honorable peace in Southeast Asia."

Hails Agreement

He hailed the Tashken agreement last month in which Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan and the late Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India took a conciliatory approach to Kashmir and other long-standing Indian-Pakistani differences.

Humphrey's 22-hour visit may result in resumption of economic and possibly military aid which the U.S. government cut off last September when Pakistan and India went to war over Kashmir.

As the vice president's car emerged from the airport, about 100 young men unfurled anti-American banners and shouted "Humphrey go back." Police rounded them up and took them away.

The vice president told a reporter food problems will be high on the list of topics to be discussed with Pakistani leaders today and with Indian leaders when he flies on to New Delhi Wednesday. Both nations are suffering severe food shortages because of drought.

Wheat Surplus Gone

In India, Humphrey said he will discuss plans for sending food for that country's starving millions. India reportedly hopes to get 19 million tons of U.S. wheat, but current prospects indicate the United States may not be able to furnish more than 12 million tons.

The vice president said there is a misconception that the United States still has a huge wheat surplus on hand under its farm price support program. The only big surplus commodity in U.S. government storehouses, he said, is cotton.

The U.S. pledge to step up military aid for Thailand was contained in a joint communique Humphrey and Thai President Thanom Kittikachorn issued at the windup of the vice president's visit to the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The two leaders said they agreed that steps already taken to improve Thai security had proved valuable "but that further strengthening of security forces was an urgent necessity."

The vice president spent a hectic 12 hours Monday inspecting Thai development projects during a 700-mile round trip to Laos to reassure Premier Souvanna Phouma that the United States is determined to continue supporting Southeast Asian nations against Red encroachment.

U.S. Pledges Rice To Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said today U.S. rice farmers will increase their acreage so they can ship South Viet Nam as much of its staple food as it needs.

"We do not propose to let the Viet Cong or the speculators dominate the rice situation in Viet Nam," Freeman said at the end of a five-day visit. "We will bring in enough rice to see that this is true."

The secretary said he found South Viet Nam's agriculture much more advanced than he had expected. He stressed that fertilizer is just as important as bullets in the war effort.

Marygrove To Open Season

The Marygrove Catholic Diocese Retreathouse at Garden opens it's new season of retreats for 1966 next weekend with a specialized retreat for the men of the Marquette diocese who have made a Cursillo.

On Feb. 25-27, the men from the Escanaba Deanery will hold their retreat. Representatives from every parish will be in attendance. An estimated 52 men are expected. Reservations for this retreat can be called in or mailed to Al Houle, 314 S. 8th St., Escanaba, phone ST6-0416.

Marygrove is in it's 20th year of operation. Retreatants come as much as 400 miles to spend a weekend of spiritual reflection there. A closed retreat is a period of 48 hours or more, during which special conferences are given on the spiritual life, discussions are arranged by the retreat director, and time is provided for private prayer and reflection.

"It is often called a "clinic" for the soul," says Msgr. Ronald Bassett, director. "Christians who sincerely believe in eternal life consider an annual closed retreat one of the best investments they can make. Increasing thousands of them are making retreats throughout the country."

Marygrove can accommodate 52 people each weekend. In 1965 over 1,800 persons availed themselves of the facilities. Situated on the beautiful Garden Peninsula, the retreathouse has over 70 acres of grounds in which the retreatants can take recreation in between conferences.

Marygrove invites anyone from the Escanaba area to visit the retreathouse during the week or on Sunday afternoons. Guides will be there to conduct a tour of the building and the grounds. Persons of any denomination are welcomed to apply for a retreat at Marygrove.

Laitala Faces Deer Talk Veto In Confirmation

LANSING (AP) — Conservation Commissioner E.M (Matt) Laitala faces confirmation trouble in the Senate over deer management policies.

Laitala, a Hancock Democrat, was grilled by the Senate Business Committee Tuesday and conceded, "in the long pull we are going to have a smaller deer herd."

He has been a commissioner since 1961 and was reappointed in December by Gov. George Romney to a term ending Dec. 31, 1966.

One business committee member said privately he probably would not vote for Laitala and added, "a lot of others feel the same way."

A committee decision is expected within about two weeks. Then the nomination would go to the Senate.

Senators accused the Conservation Commission of tail-wagging - the - dog operation whereby department functionaries tell the commission what policies should be set.

Scores Mack

Laitala said recent "hubbub" over deer management policies "would have died down as it does every year. But my good senator (Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood) jumped on the bandwagon. People said, 'hurrah, we have a legislator on our side,' and it grew."

Many hunters and some legislators say the department should declare a moratorium on shooting of antlerless deer as a means of allowing the deer herd to grow. The department says antlerless hunting is not a factor in the herd size.

Laitala said the herd has been on a 20-year decline since wartime logging operations "despite anything we can do."

Laitala said the problem was to educate hunters to the department's reasons for its program.

"What drastic moves we could take to build the herd," he said, "would still be a drop in the bucket and the cost would be terrific."

Hunters Positive

Laitala said he has been a hunter for 51 years. Hunters, he said, "are more positive about their sport than any other recreationists. It just seems to be difficult to convince them that certain facts are facts."

"Hunters," he continued, "don't learn enough about deer habits in two weekends (of the hunting season) but they won't take the word of those who make a lifetime study of it. We have to find out how to reach these people."

Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, the committee chairman, asked Laitala if a diminishing herd did not mean the hunters might be right in their criticisms.

"These matters have been studied an d restudied to the point where there shouldn't be much question left," the commissioner declared.

Sen. Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, said, "why don't we put biologists on the commission? I don't think you fellows know any more about this, meeting only 12 times a year, than we do."

Rabbi Shooter Dies Of Wound

DETROIT (AP) — Richard Wishnetsky, 23, whose haunted brooding about the hypocrisy and inhumanity he thought he saw in the world apparently led him to shoot down his rabbi before 600 witnesses, is dead of a self-inflicted wound.

Wishnetsky, brilliant honors student and one-time mental patient, shot himself in the head Saturday after twice shooting Rabbi Morris Adler, internationally known Jewish leader, as the rabbi conducted sabbath services Saturday.

Wishnetsky died in Detroit's Providence Hospital today.

Rabbi Adler, in the intensive care unit of Sinai Hospital, remained in grave condition. Doctors who performed brain surgery on the rabbi for the second time Monday, said Tuesday they noted "a few small gains which suggest an improving trend."

Wishnetsky, a former Woodrow Wilson Scholar at the University of Michigan before being committed to a Michigan mental institution, had been receiving counseling from Rabbi Adler.

Rabbi Adler, 59, has not regained consciousness since the shooting.

Wishnetsky's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wishnetsky, prominent members of Shaarey Zedek, remained by the young man's bedside until his death.

Civil Rights Is Called Gimmick To Curb Wages

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO construction union leaders say that the government may be using racial discrimination charges to pressure them into holding down wage demands.

President C. J. Haggerty of the AFL-CIO Construction and Building Trades Department broached the charge in saying "it is a possibility" that the first civil rights suit against a labor organization was part of the Johnson adminstration's campaign to bring pressure against what it considers inflationary wage increases.

Construction union spokesmen concede there has been trouble in the past in persuading some local unions to accept Negroes, but said that a Justice Department civil rights suit in St. Louis was not justified.

"Bolt From Blue"

A high government source said that the suit against the St. Louis AFL-CIO Building Trades Council came "like a bolt out of the blue" while attempts were being made to settle the case amicably.

However, there was no immediate official reaction from the Labor or Justice departments on Haggerty's statement that the St. Louis suit might be connected with a Labor Department effort to impose a national wage settlement plan on the construction unions.

He made the statement at a news conference after hearing a detailed report from St. Louis AFL-CIO officials, who were charged with racial discrimination under the 1964 Civil Rights Act for walking off the job of constructing the St. Louis arch when three Negro plumbers were hired.

Called Jurisdictional

The AFL-CIO officials say the dispute is purely a jurisdictional matter because the Negroes belonged to another union.

The Justice Department suit came at a time when Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz was proposing the national wage settlement plan, which Haggerty and the 18 construction union presidents are expected to formally reject Thursday.

The Johnson administration, in its effort to hold down what it considers the threat of an inflationary wage-price spiral, has singled out the construction industry and unions as one of several "problem areas."

Haggerty said that about 25 per cent of workers on the arch were Negroes, mostly members of AFL-CIO unions, and that there was no hint of racial problems until the Justice Department filed the suit.

Sympathy Has A Language

ISELIN, N.J. (AP) — Until a few days ago, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Risoldi had few material things to remind them of their 18-year-old Marine son killed in Viet Nam.

There was the large American flag that had draped his coffin, the spent rifle shells given them by the honor guard that fired a volley over his grave, a $25 U.S. defense bond purchased with money the son had sent home just before his death.

Then an article about the parents and the death of their son, Pfc. Vincent Risoldi, appeared in a Japanese newspaper — Yomiuri Shimbun.

Since then, things have not been the same at the Risoldi household.

"We have received over 100 letters from Japanese children, teen-agers and adults telling us how much they sympathize with us and how they have offered prayers for our boy, Chipper," Mrs. Risoldi said.

Most of the letters are beautiful in the simplicity of their wording — youngsters using Japanese-to-English dictionaries to express themselves.

"I knew by newspaper that your son dead in Viet Nam," wrote one 16-year-old Tokyo girl. "I think you are very sad of it. So I wrote a letter to you for comfortable reason."

Said another teen-ager:

"As I am poor in English, I cannot express my thought very well. But I venture to say that I extend my heart-felt sympathy."

Mrs. Risoldi said she and her husband and five children have been included in many of the letters.

"Some of the letters were addressed to the whole family," she said. "And some mentioned our baby — Lisa Ann — who was born six months ago — just four days after we buried Chipper here."

Most of the letters contained appeals for peace.

Young Risoldi died last June in Saigon after undergoing surgery for internal injuries suffered in an accident.

In the last letter he wrote to his parents before he died, the young Marine sent $20 and directed that his parents buy something for the baby Mrs. Risoldi expected.

"We bought the baby a $25 defense bond," she said. "I know Chipper would agree with that."

Asked if she would permit any of her other sons — Stephen, 15, and Gregory Jr., 11, to enlist in the service when they come of age as their brother had done, Mrs. Risoldi sighed and said:

"If that is what they wanted, yes, I would. You know, of course, we had to sign for Chipper. But I'd do it again, I guess, knowing that it was what he really wanted."

Cong Aren't Seeking Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Allied troops and air power gave the Viet Cong no rest today, but except for disengagement skirmishes the insurgents showed little inclination to defend any territory.

U.S. forces reported 66 more Viet Cong killed in two actions. American losses, if any, were not reported.

But U.S. and Vietnamese military spokesmen announced that enemy fire killed 340 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops last week, while the Allied forces killed 694 Viet Cong and captured 64. The enemy losses were less than half those the Communists suffered the week before, when 1,541 Viet Cong were reported killed and 245 captured.

With good weather over North Viet Nam for a change, U.S. Air Force and Navy planes stepped up the attack there and went for roads, railways, storage areas and warehouses in the Vinh area and around Dien Bien Phu.

Romney Proposes Youth Program

Delinquency Curbs Urged

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney called today for a state-supervised juvenile program aimed at helping rehabilitate young lawbreakers.

The recommendation came in a special message to the Legislature on crime and delinquency, in which Romney said major crime in 1965 ran at least 10 per cent ahead of 1964.

The governor repeated many of his previous proposals for fighting crime, ranging from subpoena power for the attorney general to less stringent residence requirements for deputy sheriffs.

Romney said the state must give lawbreakers under 17 years of age probation services comparable to those given older persons through circuit courts by the probation department.

"This problem has been complicated by the fact that some of our wealthier counties have been willing and able to establish strong and qualified probation staffs, while other counties have not had sufficient finances to develop a strong program," he declared.

Career Service Asked

"In the latter counties our children suffer because the probate judge cannot obtain prehearing investigations or sound plans of treatment or sufficient supervision if probation is required."

Romney said a juvenile probation program should be established as a career service, attractive enough to obtain competent social service and probation personnel.

It should be supervised by the state "but responsive to the needs and wishes of the judge or judges in each county," he said.

Romney suggested the Department of Social Services as the best overseer of such a program. He said the State Supreme Court and Corrections Department are other possibilities.

Crime Increases

Romney said State Police preliminary statistics pointed to the 10 per cent crime increase in the past year. More than three-fourths of arrests in major crimes were of persons 21 or younger, and 56 per cent involved youngsters under 17.

He also called for these crime-fighting tools:

—A computerized statewide law information network.

—Support of $250,000 for the new law enforcement council.

—Development of a center for law enforcement research.

—Conspiracy legislation to counter "gangs organized to violate the penal laws."

—Search warrant legislation conforming with federal standards.

—Immunity for witnesses under judicial order.

—Repeal of the three-month residency requirement for deputy sheriffs.

—Circuit judge option to handle 17-to-21-year old violators in civil youthful offender proceedings rather than only in criminal proceedings.

—Legal backing for Department of Social Service policies dealing with juveniles.

—$1.7 million more state help for foster care.

—Building of three regional detention diagnostic centers to serve children.

Uninsured Auto Driver Numbers Cut 5 Per Cent

LANSING (AP)—The new law requiring uninsured drivers to pay $35 to the motor vehicle accident claims fund already is having an effect, reports Secretary of State James Hare.

Hare said during 1964 and 1965 about 15 per cent of the vehicles registered in Michigan were without liability insurance.

Since the first of the year, the percentage of uninsured vehicles has dropped to about 10 per cent. This means, Hare said, that some 200,000 vehicles formerly ininsured are being insured by their owners to escape paying the $35 fee.

Gas Kills 17 Swiss Workers

LOCARNO, Switzerland (AP) — Seventeen workmen were suffocated Tuesday night by a cloud of poisonous gas at a remote Swiss mountain power station.

An official at the power plant said the gas was of carbonic origin.

Fifteen of the workmen were Italian. An Italian investigation commission arrived today, and details of the inquiry were withheld until its completion.

Police said the dense cloud of yellow gas swept through a tunnel north of Locarno, where a power station has been under construction for several years, shortly before 15 Italian workers were to end the evening shift.

The foremen sounded the alarm and slowly withdrew into the tunnel ahead of the gas. He was killed. Two Swiss fire guards who rushed in after him also were overcome and died.

The other 14 workers suffocated when an air current drove the gas through the tunnel from south to north.

The tunnel runs under Basodino Mountain where the Robbiei power station is being built. It links the two small Alpine valleys of Di Maggio and Bedretto.

The power station is in a remote area south of the Saint Gothard Mountain group in central Switzerland. The entire area is deep in snow and almost inaccessible at this time of year.

Bridge Bill's Prospects Dim

LANSING (AP) — Mackinac Bridge refinancing faced the full Senate again today — but apparently with little prospect of passage.

The Senate Appropriations Committee reported out the House - approved refinancing plan Tuesday—more to get rid of it than out of enthusiasm.

Even Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, its chief supporter acknowledged he faced an uphill fight to find the 26 votes needed for passage.

Even if passed, the bill apparently could not be implemented in the current economy.

It permits the state to issue general obligation bonds for an average interest of no more than 3.25 per cent. That money would be used to redeem $99.7 million in revenue bonds issued to build the bridge. Those bonds are drawing an average 4.25 per cent interest.

The interest saving could theoretically bring tolls down from $3.75 for a one-way crossing to $2.35.

The current national credit squeeze, however, has pushed interest rates beyond the bill's allowable maximum.

Appropriations Chairman Garland Lane, D-Flint—who said he won't vote for the bill—declared that bond houses told him such bonds could not be sold now.

The Senate committee also inserted a provision that $417,000 now paid annually by the state toward bridge maintenance would have to come out of tolls.

Lane said this meant tolls couldn't be lowered even if the bridge were refinanced. Schweigert disputed this contention.

Schweigert said despite market conditions the bill should be passed so that if bond prices lower, the state could take quick action.

Gov. George Romney has called for any refinancing which would not adversely affect tolls. He also favors raising the vehicle weight tax to cut tolls.

The bill, although it passed the House easily last year, drew sharp criticism when it was on the Senate floor last month before going to appropriations.

It supposedly was to be rewritten in committee, but Lane said Tuesday that simply couldn't be done.

Last Boost In Interest Was In '59 to 3.52 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today an increase of slightly more than one-fourth of 1 per cent in the interest rate on Series E and H U.S. savings bonds.

Johnson said the new rate, which will apply both to bonds already outstanding and new issues, will be 4.15 per cent. The present rate is 3.75 per cent.

The President could have raised the rate as high as 4.25 per cent without additional congressional action.

Stimulate Sales

The increase is intended not only to make savings bonds a more attractive investment but by stimulating bond sales — as the administration hopes it will —to help avert inflation.

In announcing the increase, Johnson said the savings bond program strengthens the security of the American family and the economy of the nation, supports the cause of freedom and U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam, and helps preserve the buying powers of our dollars.

The interest rate on Series E and H bonds is now 3¾ per cent yearly and Johnson could raise it to 4¼ per cent without additional congressional action.

The last increase was in 1959 when the rate was boosted to its present level from 3.52 per cent.

Johnson said a month ago that the rates should be increased because alternative investments made savings bonds less attractive to the public. Most banks pay at least 4 per cent on savings accounts and some savings and loan associations pay close to 5 per cent.

The new interest rate will apply to all the presently outstanding $49 billion in savings bonds as well as to new issues.

This means that persons already holding bonds need not cash them and buy new issues to benefit from the increased interest rate.

Helps Meet War Cost

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler quoted Johnson last month as saying that the prime reason for maintaining savings bond sales is to help meet the cost of the Viet Nam war. The secretary also said at that time that the savings bond program could prove one of the nation's most valuable weapons in averting inflation.

Savings bonds yielded 2.9 per cent interest in 1941. The rate was increased to 3 per cent in 1952 and to 3.52 per cent in 1957.

Series E and H bonds differ appreciably as far as the holder is concerned.

A $25 Series E bond, for example, sells for $18.75 and the holder receives his original purchase price plus any interest at the time he cashes the bond. If held to maturity, the bond is worth $25.

The purchaser pays face value for a Series H bond and the government sends him dividend checks every six months.

Also signed were pacts for a $3.4 million, 944-car parking structure adjacent to the dental school building and $395,000 to remodel the graduate and post-graduate dentistry facilities in U-M's Kellogg Institute.

Falcons Grab Packer Passer

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Quarterback Dennis Claridge and flanker-end Alex Hawkins were two of the top choices named today by the new Atlanta Falcons in their selection of experienced players from established National Football League teams.

Claridge, a former Nebraska star and three-year pro player, was picked from the Green Bay Packers. Hawkins, an eight-year veteran, is from the Baltimore Colts.

The Falcons picked 42 men, three from each of the 14 older teams, with the names of the 21 chosen from Western Division clubs announced first.

Among other selectees were 35-year-old Sam Williams, a first string end on the Detroit Lions' fine defensive line, and Junior Coffey, a promising young running back who was taken from Green Bay.

Dan Grimm, a starter this season at guard, was the other player chosen from the champion Packers.

While the Falcons were picking the players which will form the base for their 1966 operation, the NFL owners considered a Stanford Research Institute report concerning expansion to 16 clubs in 1967.

Area Gas Price Probed No Reduction In Sight

Gasoline prices in Delta County, a continual matter of concern among local residents, probably will not go any lower.

This was one of several facts brought to light Tuesday night at a meeting of the Public Affairs Committee of the County Board of Supervisors considering gasoline pricing in the area.

The Committee had invited representatives from all major gasoline and oil companies which distribute products in Delta County to explain pricing structures in an effort to reduce gas prices.

Standard Oil Co. and Marathon sent representatives to the meeting and other companies contacted, including Mobil, Texaco, Sinclair and Shell, forwarded letters to the committee.

Average retail price of regular gasoline in Delta County and throughout the Upper Peninsula is 35.9 cents per gallon. In Sault Ste. Marie, farther removed from distribution centers, the average price is 36.9 cents per gallon.

Prices Revealed

Thomas Bransford, administrative manager of American (Standard) Oil Company's Detroit region, told the committee that tank-wagon price to Standard dealers in Delta County was 17.9 cents per gallon. Coupled with state and federal gasoline taxes of 10 cents per gallon and state sales tax of 1.15 cents per gallon, this brings the per gallon cost to over 29 cents.

The added cost to consumers comes from dealer markup.

"It is interesting to note that our prices to dealers in Escanaba are only one per cent higher than to dealers in Chicago adjacent to our Whiting, Ind., refinery," Bransford said.

"The service station dealer, an independent businessman, determines his costs and what he considers to be a reasonable profit. He then adds this to the price he pays, plus any additional amount for state sales tax, which becomes his retail price. Total taxes, incidentally, amount to 11.5 cents per gallon."

Volume Cuts Price

Bransford pointed out that some dealers in metropolitan areas are able to sell gasoline at lower prices because of a greater volume in sales throughout the year than in the Upper Peninsula.

According to a table he prepared for the committee, average retail price for regular gasoline in Chicago is 33.9 cents per gallon (two cents per gallon less than in Escanaba). Other prices around the country specified were: Milwaukee, St. Louis, Mo., Denver, Colo., and Duluth, Minn., 32.9; Indianapolis, Ind., Grand Rapids, Mich., 33.9 and Minneapolis-St. Paul, 31.9.

No sales tax, however, is charged in either Wisconsin or Minnesota, Bransford pointed out.

"We bring refined products from our nearest refinery (Whiting, Ind.) by about the only way we can get it here (marine cargo) to the most strategic location (Escanaba) in the Upper Peninsula for truck distribution to our customers," Bransford said. "We attempt to sell these products at a price which will produce a reasonable profit after consideration of all expenses involved."

Competition Involved

He pointed out that dealers must consider the local competitive situation in setting prices, for example Menominee competing with Marinette where no sales tax is levied, in setting ultimate retail price.

Bransford also discussed the so-called gasoline "price-wars" which flare occasionally when one dealer cuts his prices in an effort to lure customers from competitors.

"Sometimes such action spreads throughout an area until everyone suffers, including the consumer," he commented. "Progress of communities is built on successful businesses and I've never known many successful businesses to be built without satisfactory profits."

He said that when a price war breaks out, Standard is forced to sell gasoline to dealers at a lower price to allow them to remain in competitive price relationship, but that these situations are normally of short duration and pricing rapidly returns to established levels.

Ask Questions

In regard to lower prices in Delta County by Mileage brand gasoline dealers, it was pointed out that most Mileage stations do not maintain service facilities for minor automobile repairs and may be able to reduce costs because of lower overhead expenses.

The Public Affairs Committee had asked oil companies to respond to pricing questions in the five following areas:

1. The overall price of gasoline in Delta County as compared with gasoline prices in other areas;

2. The affect of this higher price on the County tourist business;

3. The affect of the higher price on various trades and businesses using large quantities of gasoline in carrying on their business and also the affect on a potential new business;

4. The economic affects of higher gasoline prices as reflected in the general cost of living in the Delta County area;

5. Why lower prices of gasoline in other areas are not possible in Delta County.

Besides Bransford, Standard Oil was represented by Paul Pavey, Chicago, public relations department, and William Ragsdale, Traverse City, district manager. Marathon Oil Co. sent Ernest Vanderhoff, Rapid River, district manager.

Frank Stupak is chairman of the public affairs committee.

Art Teacher Wins Praise

Sister Mary Martha Jean, art teacher at St. Francis School, DePere, Wis., is the subject of an article accompanied by a color photo in which the Escanaba woman is praised for her encouragement of art as an integrated part of the curriculum.

John Lee, writing in the Green Bay Press Gazette, notes the high quality of the art exhibited at the Home School meeting and adds:

"But such an exhibit by grade school pupils is possible at St. Francis due to the interest and direction of Sister Mary Martha Jean."

She is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Sayklly and the late Joseph Sayklly of 313 S. 12th St., Escanaba, and is a member of a family prominent in the Escanaba community.

For the past two years Sister Martha Jean taught at St. Joseph's School in Escanaba.

This is her first year at DePere.

"An art major from Mount Mary College, the nun teaches the eighth grade at St. Francis," Lee continued. "Last year she initiated a program of integrating art at all age levels."

"The cooperation she received from school officials and faculty prompted an intensified program this year."

Terrorists Hit Three Yankees

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Three American paratroopers were wounded, one critically, Tuesday night as terrorists backing a general strike mounted one of their most violent attacks on U.S. troops in the heart of Santo Domingo.

The Americans, wounded in the explosion of a homemade bomb hurled at them, were on Jeep patrol.

A total of 14 separate sniping incidents, one of them intensive enough to require the call of American reinforcements, was reported by a U.S. military spokesman.

Nightly terrorism, the worst since President Hector Garcia-Godoy took office six months ago, has been raging since police fired on a Communist-led student demonstration last Wednesday.

A general strike, called after the police firing, spread to the interior amid reports that food supplies were nearly depleted in the capital.

No Change In Cable TV, Says FCC Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — How will the new ruling on community antenna television affect programs in the two million American homes equipped with the service?

Not at all, says Chairman E. William Henry of the Federal Communications Commission.

"There's no change," Henry said in an interview. "The only thing it's going to do is perhaps force the local broadcaster to be more on his toes and put on the kind of program that will ensure his place in the market."

Actually, Henry said, "we've been putting some conditions on CATV for almost two years now with no problems." He predicted that federal control over CATV would not affect the average monthly cost of the service, now about $4.50.

FCC Takes Over

CATV systems work this way: Huge antennas are erected near a community to pull down the signals of distant television stations—sometimes relayed to the antenna with the aid of microwave facilities. The signals are then fed over a cable into the homes of subscribers, who pay a fixed monthly fee averaging $4.50. In remote rural areas, where the industry was born, as well as in big cities, to which it has spread, CATV provides a greater selection of channels and clearer reception.

The FCC took over control of the 1,600 CATV systems Tuesday. At the same time it dropped its 15-day rule aimed at protecting FCC-licensed television stations. The rule prevented CATV systems from duplicating locally broadcast programs for 15 days before and after their broadcast.

"What the commission did," an FCC spokesman said, "doesn't really change anything. It extends FCC jurisdiction to all CATV systems, but it did so under rules which by and large will have almost a minimal effect.

Doubts Much Change

"I doubt if the average viewer will notice it very much."

Henry described Tuesday's moves as the "best of both worlds. We put into effect the same rules we've had for years, except that we've reduced the down on the introduction of CATV systems in big cities. It required all systems seeking to serve the top 100 television markets to first obtain its approval.

Henry's administrative assistant, John F. Cushman, explained that the major consideration behind that move was to promote the possibility of a fourth nationwide television network that would broadcast on ultra high frequency — UHF — channels.

Henry, however, offered another reason for the big city restrictions. "We said we were going to take a look at the way CATV grew in the top markets," he said, "because we've been told it might become a market for pay TV."

While easing controls on one hand, the FCC also clamped

Jr. Achievers Hear Sales Talk By Kaziateck

Five steps, or "The Great Rules in Selling" were discussed by Ralph Kaziateck, manager of the Escanaba Daily Press, with members of Escanaba Junior Achievement Monday night.

The steps: 1—Gaining attention; 2—Arousing interest; 3—Mentioning facts but stressing benefits; 4—How to arouse desire; and 5—How to close the sale, were told to the young men and women members of Junior Achievement.

Explanations and examples of each of the steps were distributed to the JA members in mimeographed form. Kaziateck emphasized the need for enthusiasm in successful selling.

After a question period the Junior Achievers returned to work on their products, which they manufacture and market as a part of their business experience.

Kaziateck's talk was one of a series being presented by representatives of business and industry. The Junior Achievement program is designed to acquaint young people (150 are enrolled in Escanaba) with the facts of business life.

Property Found Before Missed

Property reported stolen Tuesday was recovered Monday in a new twist to a larceny case, State Police of the Gladstone Post said today.

Raymond Mott of Universal Auto Parts, Rte. 1, Escanaba told troopers Tuesday that two sets of front seats fitting a small, foreign-model car had been taken from their salvage yard. Troopers informed Mott that the seats, valued at about $50 per set, had already been recovered by Escanaba Police.

They were turned in by an Escanaba gas station operator who found them in the rear of a truck when he came to work Monday morning, officers reported.

A radio from a 1962-model car was also stolen and is still missing, however. Police are investigating.

CBS News Head Quits In Huff

Fred W. Friendly

NEW YORK (AP)—Fred W. Friendly has quit his post as president of the Columbia Broadcasting System's news division in a disagreement over coverage of a Senate hearing on Viet Nam.

Friendly, 50, who rose to fame in broadcast journalism as a close associate of the late Edward R. Murrow, resigned Tuesday over the CBS decision not to provide live television coverage of hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

In a sharply worded letter, he charged that a decision made by John A. Schneider, newly appointed group vice president, broadcasting, not to televise the hearing last Thursday "was a business, not a news, judgment."

Friendly said he became angered because CBS' chief rival, the National Broadcasting Co., was televising the hearing that day while CBS was showing its audience reruns of "I Love Lucy" and "The Real McCoys."

In accepting Friendly's letter of resignation, Dr. Frank Stanton, CBS president, said:

"It is with deep regret that I accept the resignation of Fred W. Friendly...Friendly has been an outstanding leader of broadcast journalism. His contributions to the public, to his profession and to CBS have been great indeed."

Friendly charged that Schneider lacked the experience in national and international affairs to exercise a veto judgment over the news department.

In the letter to Stanton and Board Chairman William S. Paley, Friendly charged that Schneider's decision "makes a mockery" of their "crusade of many years that demands broadest access to congressional debate."

Wildlife Area's Values Are Told To Rotary Club

The increasing value of "Islands of Green" as outdoor classrooms and areas of recreation for old and young was emphasized in a motion picture presented to the Rotary Club of Escanaba at the House of Ludington Tuesday noon.

Lawrence E. Haack, forester, U. S. Forest Service, Escanaba, told of the rapidly disappearing countryside with the advancement of urban development. Communities will do well to preserve for this and future generations tracts of wild lands in their vicinity, he said.

The motion picture was produced for the Forest Service with the cooperation of the Audubon Society.

Fine Service

Jacob A. Bink will be honored by the Escanaba City Council at its meeting on Thursday night for his 14 years of service to the city as a councilman. He is retiring from the council before the end of his term because of ill health.

He has earned the gratitude of the city by fine service. He has been such a faithful councilman that his colleagues can't remember his having missed a meeting except when he was having eye surgery. He has been no forensic fireball, but he informed himself on city issues and lent his voice to support of conservative views usually.

Answering a League of Women Voters questionnaire about his office he said "I believe it is the duty of a councilman to do whatever will benefit the majority of the taxpayers." He supported the city's manager form of government in a time when it was under many challenges.

His service covered the years in which the city was trying to solve its electric utility problems and this was probably as great a test of municipal government as we have had here. Jake Bink helped mightily with cheerful service at meetings which were held almost every morning at 7 a.m. at the height of the decision making, and often again in the evening. He livened up the meetings with light comment and this has been one of his great contributions to local government, a stabilizing influence.

A native of Escanaba and a lieutenant in the Army who served in France in World War I, he was a loyal supporter of veterans activities. He worked for the paper company and the North Western Railway and he sold Chevvies for years before joining the family business that his bottler father started. The Binks operate the Coca-Cola Co. here and it's in the third generation of family operation. His fellow members of the council regret his retirement and so must the community.

Recreation Business

A group of Sault Ste. Marie area sportsmen have asked the Legislature to set a single opening day for Michigan's deer hunting season. The Legislature acts like a yo-yo on the deer seasons in the state, because the sportsmen bug it to change the season so often.

Let the hunters be caught in an early snowstorm in the U. P. and there is a cry for an earlier hunt the following year. Let the deer spoil in warm weather in the earlier hunt and there's a cry for a later hunt the next year. So the Legislature keeps trying to cover all the peas, like a con man in a shell game.

Last year the season was split, opening a week earlier in the Upper Peninsula than in the Lower Peninsula. There's a sort of rough weather justice in such an arrangement, winter coming a week earlier in Houghton than in Houghton Lake. (In Houghton they say it seems like a year earlier!)

* * *

But there was a lot of flak about the split season from Upper Peninsula hunters after last fall's hunt. It wasn't the weather influence on the hunt that annoyed the hunters this time. It was the number of Lower Peninsula hunters who came across the Mackinac Bridge, hunted a week in the Upper Peninsula and then hunted the second week in the Lower Peninsula, so they caught two openers. (The opening part of the hunt is when most deer are killed because the game is less wary.)

When the beefing started it was pointed out to Upper Peninsula hunters that they could go down state, as the Lower Peninsula hunters had come upstate, and enjoy two hunt openers, too. That kind of talk was for the birds, they said; who ever heard of an Upper Peninsula hunter going downstate to hunt? There are more deer there and more hunters and more deer killed there, but Upper Peninsula hunters don't want to travel; they want to shoot a deer from their back stoop. And when Lower Peninsula hunters shoot the deer at U.P. back stoops the Legislature is going to hear about it. This process is going on right now.

* * *

It raises some wonders about just how sincere we are about the development of a recreation business in the Upper Peninsula. The deer hunt is recreation business. One of the state's renewable resources, its wildlife, is being sold to hunters. This creates quite a bit of business for the U.P. and the hunt should be developed, we think, as a source of income for the Upper Peninsula.

Supporting this suggestion is the Conservation Department's report that more hunters would make a more efficient hunt in the U.P. if they were well distributed, and help herd management.

We suspect that the hunters who are complaining about competition are not going to solve their problem by having one opening day for the deer hunt throughout the state; that what's being observed is the development of a recreation business and that even if the hunt opens on the same day throughout the state, the U.P. still will get an increasing number of hunters from the Lower Peninsula.

They should be welcomed. The deer belong to the state and the Lower Peninsula hunters have as much right on the state and federal forest lands and forest reserve lands as U.P. hunters. The population pressures are finding us. We've been complaining about lack of them for years. We shouldn't now complain that they're not lacking any more.

REFLECTIONS

I see by the newspapers and on the magic lantern that God is dead. I suspect that Washington and Lansing and other capitals are very glad to hear this news. I've suspected that government, state and national, has been thinking a long time that God should be replaced by something more modern.

Now that God is dead the heads of state can set themselves in His place, which they've already done. With a God in Washington and one in Lansing and one in the other state capitals, there isn't any reason to worship the God who "created the heavens and the earth".

* * *

Also the god in Washington and the gods in the several state capitals are well supplied with various angels to do the nasty work of keeping the people in line. For instance, I went to purchase the license plates for my gasoline chariot the other day. I had the identification card that my insurance company provides. But this didn't get me the plates, although I had the several green backs to pay for the plates. No, I must go to my insurance company and get an affidavit that I was insured and had paid the premium. This is one other way in which the small gods and their angels harrass the people of our Fair State.

I feel very strongly that the gods and their angels were wrong, when they passed the legislation that requires me to help pay the insurance of people who do not buy it, and are perhaps better situated financially than I am. It is my thought that the god in Lansing and his angels in the congress should have required the manufacturers of the gas chariots to kick into the kitty for the uninsured gas chariot engineers.

* * *

I feel that something must be done to keep the gods on Mt. Olympus and their angels in place. And the people, believe it or not, can do something about this.

The books of the law say that some of the gods and their angels shall be elected every two years. The year 1966 is one year when the gods and the angels are to be elected. The people can this year get themselves a new god and some new angels. All they have to do is go to the polls, and vote. Then "We, the people" could send a people's lobby to Lansing, and perhaps to Washington, to lobby for the people, instead of against them, and perhaps the people should know that the God who died had planned that "Righteousness shall cover the earth, as the waters cover the sea". But, shucks, God is dead, who cares?

Ky Sound Viet Leader

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — One of the surprises of the Viet Nam war has been the change in Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, now in Hawaii for top-level war talks with President Johnson and American military and political strategists.

Before he became South Viet Nam's top executive, Ky's friends called him a flamboyant playboy.

American officials shuddered when they heard he'd taken over the government.

But Ky is turning out to be a better premier than U.S. and Vietnamese officials expected.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is known to have gained great respect for this jaunty airman. He expects outstanding things of Ky when he gains experience.

Ky is not a man on horseback. He is running the government by collegium.

He has the guts to make unpopular decisions. He seems to be learning from his mistakes.

* * *

Ky is now trying to mend fences with labor, students, farmers, the Cao Dai, Wa Hao, Catholic and Buddhist religious groups, small businessmen.

He's starting to get representatives of these groups in for private, off-the-record sessions. Ky lets down his hair, lays his cards on the table and tries to get his visitors to do the same.

In his first private meetings with labor, Ky has had surprising success, primarily because he's blunt and to the point.

Ky's friends say he wants local elections and a local self-government quickly. But he's leery of politicians. He thinks they promise what can't be done — to get votes.

These pie-in-the-sky promises, he thinks, cause unrest. They unsettle the government, make it harder to accomplish what has to be done.

* * *

Ky is unusual among top Vietnamese in that he has fought his way up from the bottom. Unlike the typical white-shirted Vietnamese bureaucrat, he knows how the average man lives.

He tells associates he wants to balance war sacrifices more fairly between city and country people and between the well-to-do and the poor.

He thinks country people and poor city residents have been carrying more than their share.

Ky is faced with rugged problems — inflation, commodity shortages, strong internal rivalries and a war.

In handling these crises, Ky hits head-on his lack of political experience. But he plugs along, trying to get a consensus.

The Doctor Says:

Blood's Great Work

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Blood has been called the fluid tissue. The more we study it the more its marvelous functions are appreciated. Carrying oxygen to our tissues via the red cells was the first of its important functions to be discovered.

These same cells, with an assist from the plasma, also carry tissue wastes to the lungs, kidneys and skin to be eliminated in exhaled air, urine and sweat.

The white blood cells form an essential part of the body's defense system through their power to engulf invading bacteria. The platelets, smaller and more numerous than the white cells, are necessary to the clotting process.

The plasma or fluid part of the blood contains the nutrients which are the products of digestion — the amino acids derived from proteins, the glucose or blood sugar from complex sugars and starches, the lipides derived from fats and all the vitamins and minerals required in the process of metabolism. In addition the plasma contains hormones derived from the glands of internal secretion, protective antibodies against the germs of disease and, less fortunately, the antibodies involved in allergies.

Blood and plasma transfusions have saved millions of lives but blood can also be deadly because blood from a donor of the wrong ABO blood group can kill. Nine blood group systems are now recognized. The best known of these are the ABO and Rh groupings.

Knowing the blood type of a donor's blood may tell us at once that it is not acceptable for a given recipient, but it is not a reliable indication of acceptability. In addition to getting blood from a donor of the right ABO type it is necessary to test the blood by cross-matching — mixing a small portion of the blood of both donor and recipient and studying the mixture under the microscope. If the two bloods are incompatible there will be a clumping of the red cells.

The severe reaction (chills and cold sweats) that occurs in the recipient when such a donor's blood is used is due to the rapid destruction of the red cells that follows such clumping. Such incompatibility is often due to different blood types in one of the other groupings. In some cases finding a compatible donor is a difficult problem. This is one reason for the maintenance of a large stock of banked blood in large hospitals.

The Family Lawyer

TOO SICK TO WORK?

As the result of a stroke, Mary suffered permanent disability in one hand. This made it impossible for her to carry on her usual job in a textile mill. So she put in a claim for disability benefits under the federal Social Security Act.

However, her claim was turned down. Reason: she was still able to perform other jobs in the mill which were open to her.

Generally speaking, the Social Security Act does provide monthly cash payments to an eligible workman with a long term disability. The purpose is to "bridge the gap" until he is old enough to collect retirement benefits.

* * *

But when is a person sufficiently disabled to qualify for aid? The law seeks to help those truly in need, yet not those who in all fairness could still earn their own living.

Thus, you ordinarily cannot collect benefits if your handicap is one that could be remedied with a reasonable exercise of will power.

In one case a man was suffering from back pains, too severe to allow him to work. However, it appeared that his condition could be greatly improved if he would diet off some excess poundage.

Under these circumstances, a court held he was not disabled in the sense that the law menane —and therefore he did not qualify for disability payments.

Another rule, illustred by Mary's case above, is that you are not disabled merely because you can no longer do exactly the same job you have done in the past. The law expects you to take an alternative job, if you are fitted for it.

* * *

On the other hand, the law does not expect you to seek work beyond your capacities. For example:

A workman, forced by injuries to give up manual labor, was still physically able to do clerical work at a desk. But he had neither the education nor the experience for it. Therefore, a court held him sufficiently disabled to qualify for benefits.

Nor must you seek a kind of work which you could do only at the cost of grievous pain and effort. As one judge put it, the law should not be applied so sternly that it would aid only the "totally helpless and bedridden" and "those at death's door."

Ann Landers

Oldtimer Uncle Paws Girl, 21

Dear Ann Landers: My wife received a letter from her cousin last week containing some shocking news. Their grandfather, who was 72 years old, choked to death at a family dinner.

The old man had had several cocktails and was in high spirits. He was eating a piece of steak when suddenly he stopped talking and began to cough. Nobody paid any attention until it became apparent that he was gasping for breath. By the time they realized wht was happening he was dead.

I have never heard of anyone else who died this way. My wife claims she has read of similar tragedies. Can she be right? If so, please tell us how (or if) such a tragedy can be prevented. — STUNNED

Dear Stunned: Several hundred people die every year in this grotesque and unnecessary manner.

I consulted with my medical authorities and learned that in the vast majority of cases the victim who chokes to death on food has ill-fitting dentures which makes proper chewing of food difficult. Usually, there's another factor — too much alcohol.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do about an uncle who is in his 60's and will not take his eyes or his hands off our sweet, 21-year-old daughter?

Whenever he is in this girl's presence he wants to hug and kiss her. He pulls her onto his lap and refuses to let her alone. All this goes on right under his wife's nose. She acts as if she doesn't see a thing.

Our daughter does not like to be pawed and mauled by this old geezer but she doesn't know how to discourage him gracefully. She asked me how to deal with the problem. Can you suggest something —RUNNING OUT OF PATIENCE

Dear Running: A 21-year-old should not need her mother's help in fending off either old elks or young bucks. Since she asked, tell her to discourage uncle the same way she would discourage any other eight-handed idiot. And the approach needn't be "graceful."

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a senior in high school — no brain, just an average student who works harder than most of the kids I know. My college boards were pretty low. This worries me a lot.

Almost every night I'm up until 11:30 or midnight doing homework, so you can see I'm not just lying around waiting for some college to beg me to enroll.

The competition to get into schools today is wild. We are under terrific pressure. So please, parents, don't add to the pressure by telling us about a nut who got into Harvard or a moron who made Yale.

If I sound like a nasty kid I apologize. I'm not always like this. I've got "college nerves", I guess. Thanks for letting me get this out of my system. — TYPICAL SENIOR.

Dear Typ: I'm glad you wrote. It gives me an opportunity to get something out of MY system. I'm fed up to here with parents who make their kids feel like cases of arrested development if they don't make the Ivy League, Yale and Harvard can't take everybody and it's just as well, because not everybody belongs at Yale or Harvard.

There are many excellent small colleges who want students. I hope parents will urge seniors to consult with their counselors and take their advice.

Area Church Women To Observe Day Of Prayer

Escanaba Area United Church Women will join their counterparts across the nation and around the world Feb. 25, in the annual observance of World Day of Prayer. Mrs. Walter Bjorkquist, chairman of United Church Women's local Day of Prayer committee, invites all interested women of the area to attend this special service in Christ the King Lutheran Church, located at 18th St. and 13th Ave.

Now 80 years old, World Day of Prayer is observed in 125 countries and on six continents around the globe. In the United States it is sponsored by United Church Women — the national co-operative fellowship of Protestant and Eastern Orthodox women's organizations, which is a department of the National Council of Churches' Division of Christian Unity.

Observed each year on the first Friday in Lent, World Day of Prayer is truly world-wide in character. The same order of service, translated into many languages, is used in all parts of the globe. This provides a unique opportunity for a deep experience of Christian unity in prayer with Christians over the world.

Each year the order of service is designed by an individual or committee in a different country. The 1966 service, based on the international theme of, "You Are My Witnesses," (Isaiah 43:10) was prepared by women of the World Day of Prayer Committee of Scotland.

This year's service stresses the idea that ordinary church members can change the world by their daily actions. It also reflects the ancient traditions of the Scottish Church. In our modern world, beset by the agonies of over-population, undernourishment, and unprecedented capacities for destruction, an observance such as World Day of Prayer can offer each participant the warmth of fellowship through Jesus Christ, who transcends all barriers.

For eighty years this unique day of prayer for peace and brotherhood has united women across personal, national and racial barriers in a solemn act of rededication to their common mission throughout the world.

Powers Near Slaying Scene

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Melvin Lane Powers was placed by a state witness today near the home of his uncle, Jacques Mossler, about an hour before the multimillionaire was slain.

Badar Sheehan, a bartender, testified Powers was in the Stuft Shirt cocktail lounge about 7 o'clock the night of the slaying, and asked him for an empty soda bottle. The lounge is not far from the scene of the 69-year-old Mossler's bludgeon-stabbing in his apartment June 30, 1964.

Sheehan said he again saw Powers that night between 12:30 and 1 a.m.—about an hour before the slaying.

"He came in and ordered a double scotch and I served him," the witness said. "He drank it and left."

The testimony was part of the state's effort to prove the element of opportunity—the painstaking retracing of the defendant's footsteps in an attempt to show he was in the vicinity of the crime and therefore could have committed it.

Powers is on trial for his life with his blonde aunt, Candace Mossler. They are charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of her husband after what the state has described as a blazing, abnormal love affair between nephew and aunt. He is 29 and she is at least 10 years older.

Hanna Buying Back Nickel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The great nickel ride on the Washington merry-go-round has completed one full spin. It took 13 years.

The General Services Administration announced last Friday it had signed a contract whereby the Hannna Smelting Co., would purchase 39 million pounds of surplus nickel, now stored in Riddle, Ore.

Further, the announcement said, the Hanna company had an option to buy another 25 million pounds stored at Hammond, Ind.

John Harlan, director of the GSA's Defense Materiel Service, confirmed that both stockpiles were originally created by Hanna.

The processing contract called for delivery of the first 5 million pounds at a cost not to exceed 79.35 cents a pound and 60.5 cents a pound on the remainder.

The current world price of nickel, incidentally, is 77¾ cents a pound.

Under the present contract, Hanna will draw on the 39-million-pound stockpile over a four-year period and pay the world price prevailing at the time. now holding 280 million pounds of nickel it doesn't need.

This nickel is only one of 12 metals the government acquired at a cost of $5.1 billion which are now considered surplus to need and which it is now trying to sell.

From 1946 to 1962 the strategic stockpile of materials was classed as a deep secret. President John F. Kennedy removed the secrecy label early in his administration and invited Congress to investigate the whole business.

Ground Water About Average

LANSING (AP) — While the Great Lakes levels are climbing, Michigan's ground water tables do not necessarily have to follow suit, the U.S. Geological Survey reports.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' lake survey expects that by July, the Great Lakes levels will be above the average for the past 10 years.

But A. D. Ash, district chief of the Geological Survey's water resources division, said ground water levels are unpredictable.

The Great Lakes, he said, draw on a large area for their water and past experience gives a basis for predicting their levels.

But, he said, local ground water levels depend on local precipitation.

In January, Upper Peninsula levels were about average, northern Lower Peninsula levels were high — hitting a January record at Roscommon — and southern Lower Peninsula levels were low, except in Gratiot and Kalamazoo counties.

Inland lake levels were at about the median in all except the southeastern portion of Michigan, where they were about one half inch below the 200-year median.

Stream flow in northern Lower Michigan and in the Upper Peninsula was described as excessive, primarily because of the late freeze.

Fatal Blast Was Second In Home

LANSING (AP) — The explosion which demolished a Lansing home and killed one man resulted from a small and unnoticed explosion several hours earlier, Lansing Fire Marshall Phillip Alber said today.

Otto Rupp, 65, died in the Feb. 7 blast which also injured four persons and caused an estimated $125,000 damage, spread over 42 houses.

Alber told a conference of newsmen and insurance adjusters that the first explosion was caused by clogged vents in the furnace pilot light.

He said it blew out the light, forced open the front door of the furnace and knocked off a vent.

It also blew tiny metal shavings into the gas cutoff system, forcing open a diaphragm and "allowing raw gas to leak into the house for six to nine hours," Alber said. He said the shavings from pipe threads probably were left when the furnace was installed five years ago.

Alber said he has no cause to assume negligence on any person's part in the explosion.

The owner of the home, Mrs. Gertrude Rupp, 74, "is one of the few persons who has been in the center of an explosion and lived," Alber said. Mrs. Rupp is in a Lansing hospital in fair condition. The man killed in the blast was her brother-in-law.

Alber said the house exploded after Mrs. Rupp walked in and turned on a light.

Crusaders Bow To Stephenson

The Holy Name Crusaders were unable to climb out of a deep first half hole here Tuesday night and bowed to Stephenson, 74-51, in Great Northern Conference action.

The league leading Eagles sailed out to a 23-10 lead in the first frame and built the margin to 42-18 at halftime behind a deadly shooting display by guard Dave Bush.

The veteran backcourt artist was on target with his outside pumper, canning nine field goals and adding three free throws for 21 points in the first two periods.

Holy Name warmed up to its tasks in the second half in which the Crusaders outscored the Eagles by one point, 33-32, but it was too late.

Bush, held scoreless in the third quarter, regained his touch in the finale for eight points to finish with 29 for the night. Erv Kranberg and Bob Mellinger also reached double figures for Coach Guss Lord's Eagles.

Three Crusaders also hit in double digits with Tom Smith getting 13, Tom Plouff 12 and Dave Cannon 10.

Stephenson connected on 29 field goals and tossed in 16 of 27 attempts from the free throw line. Holy Name, shooting at 33 percent from the field with 23 of 68, added 5 of 13 from the foul line.

The victory cemented Stephenson's first place position in the Great Northern standings with a 5-0 mark. The Eagles are 11-2 overall for the season with games remaining against Menominee, Escanaba and Kingsford.

The setback was the 16th straight for Coach John Butrymowicz's Crusaders. Holy Name has two remaining games in the regular season, hosting Escanaba Friday night and Iron Mountain Feb. 25.

Stephenson won the junior varsity game, 53-38.

Gophers Drop In Cage Race

By The Associated Press

The big Ten basketball race was narrowed to two teams teams Tuesday when Minnesota dropped a 96-87 decision at Iowa.

The result left Michigan (7-1) on top followed by Michigan State (6-2).

Minnesota, which could have climbed into a second place tie with MSU with a victory over Iowa, fell out of serious contention with its third loss of the season.

Iowa's triumph was its fourth of the season in the Big Ten, but the Hawkeyes can boast of little more than a .500 record. While they have been unbeatable at home, the Hawkeyes have failed to win on the road.

Pro Football To Expand By 1967 Season

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The National Football League continued the job of stocking its new Atlanta franchise today and it talked about expansion to 16 clubs in 1967.

While the Atlanta Falcons were picking the 42 veterans who will form a base for their 1966 operation, the owners considered the expansion report from the Stanford Research Institute.

The institute's report was strictly confidential. Commissioner Pete Rozelle clamped the lid on all pertinent information about the surveys of Boston, Cincinnati, Houston, New Orleans, La.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash.

"We expect to expand to 16 clubs, probably in 1967," said Rozelle. "I think we will then have two eight-team conferences, each divided into two four-team divisions. The division winners will play, and the two survivors will meet for the league championship."

Although the Stanford people said they had rated the seven cities on the basis of potential NFL attendance, stadium facilities, season ticket potential and estimated revenue from attendance and concessions, they refused to say if any one city was in the lead.

"This is as much as we can give out without making a circus of it," said Rozelle. "After our owners have a chance to evaluate their 200-page report, we will place our own weight on the ratings they have given.

"There is no precise timetable for the selection. The decision on the location of the franchise will be made only after the thorough study of the survey and the consideration of all other factors."

It is likely that the decision will be made at the spring meeting in late April. No site has been selected for that meeting.

The club owners, saddened by the death of the wife of George Halas, pioneer owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, named a delegation to attend Mrs. Halas' funeral in Chicago Thursday. They will continued the league meeting, which probably will end Thursday.

A proposal to increase the player limit from 40 to 42 was rejected. That means the new Atlanta team, which was granted special privileges, will be able to retain 46 men during the first two weeks of the season and 42 the rest of the way.

Owner Rankin Smith, Coach Norb Hecker and director of personnel Gene Cronin worked all day Tuesday and into today picking the players made available by the 14 teams which operated in 1965.

Atlanta was permitted to select one player from a list of 11 submitted by each club. Then the lists were turned back to the clubs who exempted two additional veterans. Atlanta then took two more from a list of eight submitted by each club.

At the end of the selection process the Falcons would have 42 veterans, plus the 32 rookies they signed after the college draft and 19 free agent veterans.

Former Pistons Turn On Mates

By The Associated Press

The hapless Detroit Pistons settled a little deeper into the National Basketball Association cellar Tuesday night, aided down the stairs by a couple of their former teammates.

Detroit, at the bottom of the NBA's Western Division with an 18-45 record, bowed to the host Baltimore Bullets 114-105.

The victory boosted Baltimore to 1½ games ahead of San Francisco in the battle for second place in the division. The Bullets still trail Los Angeles, which downed visiting New York 132-124.

In other NBA clashes, Cincinnati whipped Boston 136-123 and Philadelphia, aided by Wilt Chamberlain's 34 points and 20 rebounds, downed St. Louis 121-109.

Ex-Piston Don Ohl, back in full action after suffering a fractured cheekbone, led Baltimore's scoring with 24 points. Player - coach Dave DeBusschere was high for Detroit with 26, and Eddie Miles had 23.

Bob Ferry and former Detroiter Johnny Egan bunched their points in the fourth quarter as the Bullets, leaders since the six - minute mark, built up a margin of safety.

Ferry scored 12 of his 18 points in the final quarter while Egan accounted for nine of his 15 tallies in the same period.

Detroit had split eight previous games with the Bullets.

Chamberlain sank 15 of 24 field goal attempts as the 76ers continued their drive for the Eastern Division lead. Philadelphia, which didn't lead until the final seven minutes, outscored the Hawks 34-18 in the final period.

Zelmo eBaty topped St. Louis with 28 points.

Oscar (Big O) Robertson, who missed last Sunday's game with a groin injury, played all but two minutes Tuesday and led Cincinnati to victory.

He flipped in 31 points as the Royals built a 70-58 halftime lead on their home court and coasted to victory.

Boston's Bill Russell had to leave the game after less than two minutes because of a leg injury. His teammates, Sam Jones and John Havlicek, scored 23 each.

Los Angeles broke open a close game early in the second half and took command the rest of the way against New York. With the Knicks in front 63-62, the Lakers went on an eight-point spree to open a gap.

Jerry West sparked the Western Division with 29 points. The Knicks, who had won seven of their last eight games, were paced by Walt Bellamy and Dick Barnett with 30 each.

Kansas Heading For Cage Crown

By The Associated Press

For the first time since Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain was a sophomore in 1957, the Kansas Jayhawks may win an undisputed Big Eight Conference basketball championship this season.

Seventh-ranked in this week's Associated Press poll, the Jayhawks impressed Tuesday night with a 98-54 home-court thumping of Missouri. Walt Wesley's 25 points and 13 rebounds paced the Jayhawks to their 17th triumph in 20 games, including 8-1 in league play.

All three defeats were suffered on the road to UCLA, Southern California and Nebraska, and the Jayhawks are favored to turn the tables on Nebraska late this month. Nebraska currently leads the Big Eight at 8-0.

The eighth-ranked St Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, also impressed with an 83-79 road victory over Davidson at Charlotte. Cliff Anderson's lay-up and two free throws by Matt Guokas provided the winning margin for the Hawks in the closing minutes after Davidson had taken a 77-75 lead.

Anderson and Guokas each got 23 points to boost the Hawks' record to 18-4.

Rod Knowles, with 23, and Dick Snyder, with 22, led Davidson.

Iowa virtually eliminated Minnesota from the Big Ten race with a 96-87 home-court triumph over the Gophers, George Washington ended a 12 - game losing streak by defeating East Carolina 86-80 at home and Rice lost its 28th straight, including 18 this season, by dropping a 73-67 decision on the road to Arkansas.

Southern Methodist moved within one game of leading Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference by beating Baylor 68-66 on the road as Texas Tech, playing at home, handed the first-place Aggies their second straight SWC defeat 98-85.

In other major games, Rutgers beat Navy 69-65, Boston College took Boston University 73-62, Rhode Island downed Holy Cross 84-68, Connecticut thumped New Hampshire 113-62, Duquesne nipped Kent State 70-66, Texas defeated Texas Christian 85-77, St. John's of New York crushed Notre Dame 77-59 and Miami of Ohio whacked Marshall 71-52. All were road triumphs.

At home, N.C. State took North Carolina 87-77, Furman edged Virginia Military 73-72, Memphis State whipped Miami of Florida 86-72 and Oklahoma routed New Orleans Loyola 69-44.

Zone Change Is Sought

An ordinance to amend the city ordinance for zoning change in the S. 5th-Old US-2 area for a storage and wholesale products building was introduced at the City Council meeting Monday night. March 14 has been set for public hearing.

Herbert K. Peterson appeared in behalf of a client, unnamed, seeking the change. The Council went into executive session to dicuss the proposal with Peterson, who consulted with his client during the meeting for permission to disclose information asked by the Council.

Lights

The zone change proposes to make Block 2 of the McCanna, Clark and Carey addition of the city a light shopping district. The firm, which deals in food products, will do a small amount of retailing and use the property for storage of bulk shipments, Peterson said. The company is interested in the north 12 lots. Fill will be required to make the land suitable. There are no buildings in the block, zoned residential except for the corner lot, zoned for light shopping. The amendment would make the entire block a light shopping area.

A report was received on costs of the present boulevard light system, and that under a proposal of Edison Sault Electric Co. Under it 46 lights would replace the present 76 and use mercury vapor lighting, with the power company assuming ownership. The city presently pays $234 a month for current for the lights. Under the Edison proposal, cost would be $250 a month. Lights would be on all night and operation and maintenance of the system would be paid by the power company. A committment will be sought from the power company on its schedule of improvements planned for the system.

Housing Site

A report was received the city had no damages from late completion of the elevated water tank and a resolution was adopted freeing contractors from penalties for late completion. Extra time was required to determine type of tank needed, and this was no fault of the contractors, it was noted.

Manager reports also were received on magnetic water meter assemblies, new legislation on dumping grounds and a scheduled inspection of sites for a federal senior citizen housing project. The sites include one proposed for a downtown parking area, and this may delay that project, it was indicated.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were William Gardapee, Rte. 1, Virginia Young, Gulliver, Phyllis Hebert, Ensign, Arthur Hough, 214 Oak, Genevieve King, Naubinway, Leonard Harbick, 508 Arbutus, Joyce DeMers, N. 5th, Ruby Bockorny, Cooks.

Discharged were Mary Gierke, Betty Nelson, Julie McBurney, Gail Farnham, and Debra Barker.

Rent Subsidy Funds Sighted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional advocates of federal rent subsidies were hopeful today that new guidelines would enable them to win the money to get the program started.

President Johnson asked Congress this week to include in a supplemental appropriations bill the full $30 million authorized for the first year of the subsidy program.

He first made the request last year but Congress declined to vote any of the $30 million although it had authorized that sum in the big 1965 housing bill passed earlier in the session.

At the time the funds were turned down, there were charges at the Capitol that the proposed regulations for the program would allow comparatively well-off families to get the benefit of the subsidies.

Since that time the new Housing and Urban Development Department has prepared revised guidelines to limit strictly the incomes and assets of potential beneficiaries.

For example, an elderly couple participating in the program would be restricted to assets of $5,000, other persons to $2,000.

Backers of the program said they believed these restrictions now should be enough to tip the scales in their favor.

Johnson said Monday the subsidies were "vital to our efforts to improve the quality of life in America."

The program is designed to help cities overcome shortages of decent housing for low-income families.

Apollo Launch Comes Feb. 23

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency has delayed the launching of the first Saturn 1B rocket and Apollo spacecraft at least one day, until Feb. 23.

A spokesman said more time was needed for fueling the rocket during the lengthy countdown. The Saturn 1B, most powerful ever built by the United States, is to hurl the Apollo over a ballistic course in the opening shot in the Apollo program, aimed at landing astronauts on the moon in this decade.
